WILSON ARRIVES AT HOBOKEN

NEW BEING HAUNTED BY VISIONS OF SWEETHEART

INQUEST TO DETERMINE MOVE IN SLAYING

Murderer Will Get Chance to View the Body of His Victim Today

BELIEVE INSANITY TO BE DEFENSE GROUNDS

Action May Be Taken By State Medical Board If Cause Is Found

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—After a sleepless night in which he was continually haunted by the vision of Miss Frieda Lesser, his sweetheart whom he says he murdered, Harry S. New today awaited his first view of the body since he left it in his sedan at police headquarters during the dawn of Saturday morning.

"I couldn't sleep," he said this morning. "Whenever I closed my eyes Frieda appeared before me and would not leave."

New was noticeably shaken. Authorities said that New this afternoon probably would be permitted to view the body of Miss Lesser, during the inquest. Two days ago he expressed a wish to see her.

Indications were that he will be spared the ordeal of facing the mother of the girl whom he killed. Mrs. Alice Lesser, the mother, seemed too ill this morning to be permitted to attend the inquest scheduled for 1:30 this afternoon.

Revelations of the inquest and autopsy are expected to form the first, big determining step in the disposition of New's remarkable crime.

New, himself, has for the first time showed interest in saving himself from the gallows and a court fight is now expected.

Fears Only Mother
"I fear just one thing in all the world—mother," he declared in his cell today. "For her I hope to defend myself."

His defense, his friends said, would be insanity.

The statement in Washington last night by Senator New in which he is quoted as admitting that he had known the accused man's mother thirty years ago and which concluded with a declaration that he would not shrink a responsibility, was taken here as proof that Harry New's expressed confidence that the man whom he claims as his father would aid him, has at least some foundation.

New today reiterated his declaration that fears that he might attempt suicide are groundless.

"I haven't the slightest intention of harming myself," he declared.

Veiled Threats Heard
At the same time it became known that veiled threats against New had been received and he will be heavily guarded when he goes to the inquest today, police said.

More than New's case is reported to be involved in the outcome of the autopsy. The State Board of Medical Examiners admitted an investigation of New's statements naming the nurse whom he said was to have performed the alleged criminal operation on Miss Lesser has been started. If the autopsy should prove Miss Lesser was in a delicate condition, medical board officials said, there was a possibility of a criminal prosecution. The nurse has denied having planned to perform such an operation and

Revenue Raider Seizes 9 Stills During 1 Week

Five Moonshiners and 10,000 Pounds of Sugar Are Also Taken

ATLANTA, Ga., July 8.—Tom Curtis, revenue raider of Canton, Ga., has been a very busy man of late but since prohibition has taken effect he expects to be even busier.

Curtis is said to be the champion whiskey still raider of the moonshine district. In one week he captured five moonshiners, nine stills, 500 gallons of whiskey and 10,000 pounds of sugar. The sugar was intended for use in making "monkey rum," one of the deadliest brands of moonshine which carries a "kick" not duplicated by the strongest moonshine whiskey.

BULLETINS

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Prohibitionists in the House today won the first test vote on prohibition enforcement legislation. By a vote of 229 to 56 immediate consideration of the enforcement bill was ordered as demanded by the dries. The action was taken by adopting the resolution of the sub-committee. Republican Leader Mondell announced that consideration of enforcement legislation for both war time and constitutional prohibition will begin late today. Anti prohibitionists see some hope for a longer life for 2.75 per cent beer.

TOKIO, July 8.—Japanese statesmen are practically unanimous in their endorsement of the League of Nations. They see closer relationship between all nations, less war and a greater Japan according to their statements.

CAPT. SMITH SETS NEW COAST AIRPLANE MARK

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 8.—Clipping five hours and three minutes from Katherine Stinson's San Francisco-to-San Diego flight record, established in 1917, Captain Lowell H. Smith swooped down the coast to Rockwell Field from the Presidio yesterday afternoon in four hours and six minutes, establishing a new American speed record for a 610-mile non-stop flight. Captain Smith had to drive his California Bluebird at an average speed of 143 miles an hour to attain this record, which beats by 26 minutes, the record established by J. W. Sharnack and Alfred Barnhart in their Lapere bomber a week ago, when they flew from Rockwell Field to San Francisco in four hours 32 minutes followed by Captain Smith just four minutes later.

BIG BALLOON SOON READY FOR RETURN TO ENGLAND

Dirigible Being Overhauled Before Start Which May Be Made By Midnight or Early Tomorrow Morning.

MINEOLA, L. I., July 8.—Maj. H. C. Scott, commander of the R-34, announced shortly after noon today that the dirigible probably would start on its return voyage across the Atlantic about six o'clock tomorrow morning. Late this afternoon there were intimations that she would not get away before tomorrow night.

MINEOLA, L. I., July 8.—The British dirigible R-34, the first lighter-than-air craft to cross the Atlantic, will start its return voyage between 11 o'clock tonight and daybreak tomorrow, should weather conditions prove favorable, it was definitely announced early today.

Major G. H. Scott, commander, planned on getting away before 8 o'clock this morning, but a thorough inspection last night revealed that the airship needed further overhauling.

The delay will also enable temporary repairs to the envelope, a large rent in which was torn yesterday when a gust of wind nearly pulled the R-34 from her moorings at a time when the heat had greatly expanded her gas.

The R-34 will make a short cruise over New York City before putting out to sea. Although weather conditions for the next 24 hours are expected to be unfavorable, the officers of the R-34 were confident of making much faster time than on the trip over here, as the prevailing winds are sure to be from the west.

The R-34 will take the southern route, flying direct from Mineola to Fastnet, Ireland. This distance is 2,849 sea miles, compared with 1,400 miles from Ireland to Newfoundland.

Expect 40 Mile Gait
The dirigible averaged 29½ miles an hour coming over, but Scott and his associates believe they can average 40 going back. This would make the time for the return trip about 70 hours, as compared with the 108 hours and 12 minutes consumed on the westward voyage. The petrol consumption, in this event, would be 3,800 gallons, as against 4,850 gallons.

The dirigible, which brought over some mail, will carry 25 pounds of mail back, mostly personal letters. No official documents were offered for the return mail, so the public received the benefit, such mail as was marked "please send by R-34" being placed aboard yesterday. Most of it bore an ordinary two cent stamp. An overhauling of the five motors proceeded today, and it developed that the water jacket of the port engine on the middle gondola had cracked, flooding the engine. The motor will have to be taken apart, and it was reported that this might require 24 hours. After 6 o'clock this morning a shift in the wind again caused the R-34 to tug at her moorings. Additional men were called out and she was brought under control after a short struggle.

LANSING IS RECALLED SAYS FRENCH REPORT

LONDON, July 8.—According to a News Agency dispatch from Paris, it is stated in certain peace circles "that Secretary Lansing has been recalled by President Wilson."

POSTOFFICE HEAD QUILTS JOB; RUMOR AT CAPITOL

Action of Burleson Follows Criticism of Labor Body; Disposition of Matter Is Said to Be Big Problem.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—When President Wilson reaches New York today, he will have in his possession the resignation of Postmaster General Burleson.

Burleson cabled his resignation to the president at Paris. He offered to retire in the interests of the Democratic party. Replying by cable, the president thanked Burleson for his attitude and stated that the matter would be withheld for consideration upon his return to America.

The postmaster general's cable was dispatched soon after the American Federation of Labor at its Atlantic City convention adopted resolutions demanding that Burleson be removed. This action, following criticism from other quarters of Burleson's administration of the postoffice department is understood to have prompted his offer to step down to save the president possible embarrassment.

Important Problem.
Disposition of the matter was regarded as one of the most important problems confronting the president upon his return here. It is known that certain of the Democrats are willing to see the postmaster general leave the cabinet for party reasons.

Burleson's cabinet life has been beset with difficulties, many of which arose during his administration of the cable and wire systems. These troubles were intensified by strikes and threats of strikes among employees of the telegraph and telephone companies. His attitude in these instances caused charges to be made by labor that the postmaster general had refused to recognize labor unions or be governed by decisions of the war labor board.

Widespread opposition to the postal zone law by publishers was assigned by Burleson as the cause of other criticism directed at him.

After refusing either to affirm or deny that he had resigned, Burleson made a denial. "There is absolutely no truth in the statement that I have resigned as postmaster general," Burleson said.

It was pointed out that the mere offering of the resignation does not constitute resigning until the resignation is accepted. President Wilson has not given the matter official consideration and has not announced acceptance.

LANSING TO SAIL FOR AMERICA THIS WEEK

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Secretary of State Lansing will sail for the United States this week, he has informed the State Department. He will not sail today, as reported from Paris, it was said definitely at the department.

Lansing did not set a definite date for sailing. He will return to take charge of State Department affairs as they come up in Congress during the peace treaty discussion.

Under Secretary Polk is expected to take Lansing's place at Paris in considering the remaining treaties. Polk, however, has not yet outlined his plans.

SIR WM. ORPEN PAINTING PORTRAIT OF PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Sir William Orpen, famous artist, is completing a fine portrait in oils of President Wilson, which it is expected will be delivered in America soon. The artist has also painted portraits for nearly every prominent personage connected with the peace congress.

GREAT BRITAIN TO URGE VON TIRPITZ BE PUT ON TRIAL

LONDON, July 8.—Great Britain will demand that Admiral von Tirpitz, author of Germany's submarine warfare, be brought to trial, according to the Times.

After sitting in London and hearing the evidence against the former kaiser on his responsibility for the war, Allied statesmen may formally indict him in the same way that a grand jury operates in hearing a murder case in New York or Chicago.

The possibility was admitted today by a cabinet minister who is in close touch with plans for Wilhelm Hohenzollern's trial.

"The entire case is unprecedented," he said. "Every decision must be reached by means of a new international law."

The cabinet minister said it was highly possible that a grand jury would sit in London and return an indictment against the ex-emperor which would be given out to the world, followed by a request to Holland for extradition. Perhaps Wilhelm may be given an opportunity to present a signed statement of his case before the "jury."

If the indictment branded him as criminally responsible for the war and Holland refused to give him up, the grand jury would let the indictment stand as its verdict, then sit back ready to pounce upon the kaiser the moment he set foot outside of Holland.

In case he moved to another neutral country the Allied grand jury might again set in motion proceedings for extradition. Such a plan certainly would mean the banishment of the former emperor from any belligerent country.

The cabinet member said no suggestion had been made to try the former crown prince.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF SCHOOL OFFICIALS

SANTA BARBARA, July 8.—The State Board of Education and the presidents of the State Normal Schools are holding an annual conference at the Santa Barbara Normal school this week. E. P. Clarke, president of the board, addressed the gathering this afternoon. General educational topics will be discussed each day. The conference will recommend instruction of high school students in the "rules of the road," along with their other civic studies.

WILL SUBMIT CASE TO ANY BOARD BUT WIRE CONTROL BODY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—Striking telephone workers in the Pacific coast district are willing to submit their case to any board of arbitration appointed by President Wilson or Secretary of Labor Wilson, but not Postmaster General Burleson's wire control board. Strike leaders announced this today and declare meetings in the various cities today and tonight will take the same stand.

The announcement followed a telegram from Burleson to Mayor Rolph of San Francisco, in which he stated that the time a wage increase is to become effective is the only point at issue. The telegram urged that settlement be left entirely up to the wire control board.

Strike leaders state that the wire control board is composed of telephone and telegraph company officials. They state that there are many other questions at issue beside the wage scale, and Miss Nellie Johnson, international vice president of the operators' union, declares the girls will remain out until Christmas if necessary before they will agree to arbitration by the wire control board. Electricians intend to stay out until the girls' demands are all met.

Captain Charles T. Connell of Los Angeles, who settled a number of strikes as representative of the federal board of mediation, and E. P. Marsh of the mediation board, conferred with telephone company and strike committee officials yesterday, then telephoned a lengthy report to Washington. Neither would make a statement.

An appeal to President Wilson to lend his personal assistance in settling the strike was telegraphed today by the executive committee of the women's citizens committee, an organization that, after investigating, espoused the cause of the telephone operators and is maintaining canteens for their subsistence.

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—With officials and prominent citizens of Bakersfield and Kern county, among the large crowd of spectators, the tenth hull built at the Southwestern Shipbuilding Company's yards was christened the Bakersfield as it slid down the ways into the channel at Los Angeles Harbor at 6 o'clock last evening.

HURRIES TO CARNEGIE HALL TO MAKE SPEECH

Transport George Washington Escorted to Harbor By Boats and Planes

NEW YORK, July 8.—President Wilson set foot on American soil for the first time in five months late this afternoon when he landed at Hoboken, N. J.

Just before the Presidential transport George Washington was made fast, the president stood on the bridge of the steamer acknowledging the cheers of thousands of persons lining the shore and crowding boats afloat.

With Real Admiral Grayson at his side, the President had remained on the bridge much of the time after the transport was met off Ambrose Light by units of the Atlantic fleet. As the steamer nosed her way into the slip Mrs. Wilson and Miss Margaret Wilson stood on the deck just below the bridge.

The President came ashore at 3:55 amid a great ovation. He left soon for Carnegie Hall where he will deliver his opening speech for the League of Nations this afternoon.

The progress of the presidential transport from the outer to the inner harbor had been a continuous demonstration. The ship arrived off Ambrose Light before 11 o'clock but the speed was reduced so that she might reach the entrance of the North River about 2:30 to permit her to dock at Hoboken with the aid of the flood tide at 3 p. m.

Drawn Up in Review
The dreadnaughts Pennsylvania and Oklahoma, together with thirty destroyers, were drawn up in review off Ambrose Light.

With the two dreadnaughts preceding her, a submarine chaser on either flank, the destroyer flotilla trailing in her wake, a dirigible balloon, overhead and a flock of seaplanes swooping and darting about, the George Washington steamed slowly toward the city, passing through the narrows at 1:30. The Pennsylvania flew the pennant of Secretary Daniels.

Vice President Marshall, Secretary Baker and other members of the President's cabinet and their wives, were aboard. The ships constituting the escort and all harbor craft were decorated from stem to stern with varied colored flags and pennants.

The noise increased as the George Washington slowly made her way toward her dock. Crowds on shore added to the tumult. Tens of thousands crowded into Battery Park, on the roofs of buildings and at every available point along the Manhattan, Brooklyn and New Jersey shores to catch a glimpse of the President.

Tumult of Noise
When the George Washington passed the Statue of Liberty at 2:55 the entire inner harbor was a tumult of noise. The cheers of those aboard the escorting fleet and harbor craft were flung back a thousand-fold by those on shore.

The George Washington began working into the slip at 3:05 but it required considerable time to effect the landing.

Ten thousand school children greeted the presidential party at Hoboken. They were stationed in Hudson said all she promised to do was to aid Miss Lesser in preparing her trousseau for the approaching wedding.

Senator New Declares No Ceremony Ever Performed

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Senator Harry S. New, Indiana, has issued the following statement regarding his connection with Harry S. New, who killed a woman in Los Angeles and who claims the senator is his father:

"I have just this to say about this whole deplorable matter: More than thirty years ago when I was in my twenties and unmarried I knew Mrs. Burger. There was never at any time a question of marriage between us.

"Conditions arose which I did not care to dispute, which resulted in my doing everything in my power to make amends then and later. Whatever I did in that direction was of my own accord and no one else had anything whatever to do with it. The affair ended about thirty years ago. Since that time the people of my home city are the best judges of what my life has been. I never shirked responsibility that has come to me and I never shall."

John L. Richardson who is acting as New's attorney, announced that Dr. E. O. Sawyer a prominent alienist, had been engaged to make a mental examination of New. The examination is scheduled for late today following the inquest and New's arraignment. Formal charges of first degree murder were filed this morning. At noon Attorney J. F. Clark who is representing Mrs. Alice Lesser mother of the dead girl, refused to comment on a report that Mrs. Lesser was protesting against an autopsy.

Shortly after 1 o'clock it was stated that the autopsy had been performed and that surgeons would be able to testify definitely at the inquest as to the true condition of Miss Lesser. The inquest began at 2 p. m.

Ten French Soldiers Killed, 20 Injured In Battle With Italians

ROME, July 8.—Ten French soldiers were killed and twenty injured in new outbreaks between the French and Italians at Fiume, according to dispatches received from that city yesterday.

In describing the fight the Milan correspondent of the Corriere della Sera reported that the trouble started when a few drunken French soldiers opened fire on a passer-by. A large crowd gathered and one Frenchman was killed.

A company of Italian marines, landed from cruisers, were attacked by a number of French soldiers, who wounded one of the marines. Merchant sailors attacked the Frenchmen, who fled and barricaded themselves in a store, reopening fire from the windows. The mob returned the fire and ten Frenchmen were killed and twenty injured. One merchant sailor was killed. Several Italian soldiers who rushed to restore order were wounded.

Heathman Goes After Pretty Rosy Lips With All the Vim of Youth

"And she turned her pretty rosy lips up to me and I went after them."

Can you imagine anyone saying that other than Col. Heathman, city recorder, and world-renowned hand-shaker?

And can you imagine any man of the age of the doughty Colonel going after those pretty lips with more spirit of the youth than he?

It all happened yesterday, when the city recorder officiated at the marriage of John Wesley Hunt and Gertrude Fronteg, both of whom gave their home address as New York.

Hunt was more than liberal, and beside slipping a $10 piece of currency into the hands of Heathman, he asked the bride to kiss the judge.

"Hunt was a happy man," said Heathman, in relating the incident, "and after he had showered her with kisses following the ceremony, he told her to kiss me. And she turned her pretty rosy lips up to me and I went after them."

"I have officiated at many weddings and this is the first time that the groom has been generous enough to permit me to share in his joys to the extent of kissing his bride.

"The bride is a handsome woman and, believe me, it was some delight to smack her lips."

Col. Heathman happened in at the county clerk's office at an opportune moment yesterday, and Justice Cox being absent at the time, he was engaged to perform the ceremony for two couples, the other being John Nelson and Gertrude Brooks.

SCARCITY OF HOMES HOLDS UP MARRIAGE

LEWISTON, Me., July 8.—Matrimony in this city has hit a stiff stumbling block in one instance, at least, as a result of the scarcity of houses. The particular lad and lassie want to get married, want to very badly, and mama had her heart set on a June wedding, but the lad in question was a hard headed youngster and won't venture on a life of wedding bliss until he has a house ready for birdie to settle in, and that's difficult to get now.

He has the marriage license in his breast pocket, and with a caressing hand he pats it as he searches Lewiston for rent. There isn't any of the kind called "decent," and so it begins to look as though this wedding will be postponed until a home can be built.

As a result of the excessive cost of building material, together with the great advance in the price of labor, there has been practically no building in Lewiston since 1916, when 50 new houses were erected. Not all of these were for rent. Since then there has been a large increase of population as a consequence of the good business in the textile mills of the city. Any announcement of a desirable rent sends 50 to 100 seekers after it.

Steps Will Be Taken To Prevent Spread of New Pest Eating Corn

ALBANY, N. Y., July 8.—Steps to prevent the spread of the corn-borer will be discussed at a conference of state commissioners of agriculture and entomologists of the corn growing states to be held here in August. The pest so far has appeared in but two states, New York and Massachusetts. It is a rapidly spreading insect, and it is believed that it can destroy half the corn crop in a season if preventive measures are not promptly taken.

New York state has spent $100,000 in its effort to stamp out the disease since the discovery here this winter, but so far no effective means for combating it have been found.

Invitations to attend the conference have been sent to the commissioners of agriculture of Illinois, Connecticut, Indiana, Iowa, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Massachusetts has been fighting the insect for a year or so, but has been unable to check its spread, and a new colony has been found in New York state at Hopewell Junction, Dutchess county.

Federal Secretary of Agriculture Houston has been asked to attend the conference and has replied that he will either attend in person or send a representative.

FINDS HONEST GIRL WHILE HUNTING CASH

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 8.—Angelo Pollock, a Gloucester City huckster, does not believe in banks and when he received $600 from the sale of a small house on South Broadway one night recently he turned the money over to his brother Frank, also a huckster. The latter lost it on his rounds. Angelo saw his long-planned trip to Italy gone, and the brothers remained up all night, especially Angelo. The next morning they started out on the route, looking and inquiring everywhere. When they reached Market street, 12-year-old Mary Daly, daughter of former Constable Thomas Daly, No. 318 Market street, asked them if they had lost anything, and when they described the money she ran in the house and brought out the bag.

The child had been hunting several hours for the owner, as she had found the bag in the yard at her home. The brothers cried with joy, kissed the child and hurried off to the police station and told the police that they had found an honest child. Angelo will get his trip to Italy to see his sister, and little Mary will ride a new bicycle as her reward. The money was put in a safe place until Angelo leaves.

The smallest back yard affords an opportunity to keep a few hens. Whether the occupant of the premises can keep those few hens to advantage depends upon whether he or she can and will give them the necessary care.

The route was guarded by 1,000 policemen, in addition to soldiers. Every house top was under surveillance.

Important Issues Awaiting President Wilson's Action

WASHINGTON, July 8.—President Wilson, returning to the United States today, is confronted with many important issues.

A great number of bills are on his desk at the White House awaiting signature. In addition, he is expected to name a charge d'affaires for the American embassy in Berlin, consult with Secretary Redfield with regard to resumption of commercial relations with Germany, after the trading with the enemy law expires upon the proclamation of peace; take action on the persistently reported desire of Secretary Baker to retire; to decide when demobilization will be ended and war prohibition may be lifted, and take a hand in plans for returning the railroads to their owners.

Among the bills before him are the sundry civil, army and navy, general deficiency, the act returning telegraph systems to their owners and the agricultural appropriation bill. The latter contains the clause repealing daylight saving. Petitions have been received against this repeal. The President's attitude toward it is not known.

Immediately upon his return to Washington he is expected to call an important meeting at which for the first time in months he will discuss domestic affairs with his official advisers.

Early decision is looked for on the question whether peace may be proclaimed at once or not until after the Senate has ratified the peace treaty.

Friends of Eugene V. Debs and other imprisoned radicals are expected soon to take their appeals to the White House.

The 1920 presidential campaign is already beginning to loom and some expression from the President as to a third term may be forthcoming, some observers believe. An utterance he made in a speech in Paris has been taken in some quarters here as being a hint that he did not want another term.

Administration Leaders Will Confer With Wilson

By L. C. MARTIN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Senate administration leaders today planned to confer with President Wilson as soon as possible after his return to Washington to map out with his aid their campaign for preventing league of nations opponents altering the league covenant.

Senators Hitchcock, Pittman, Gerry and Walsh, of Montana, are among those to whom, it is expected, President Wilson will confide his ideas concerning the best means of meeting the Borah-Johnson-Lodge-Root attack on the league.

The president's senate advisers said today he may call a general conference to be attended by the whole of the foreign relations committee as he did when he returned from Paris before with the first draft of the league.

Some such session will be necessary, senators said, because of confidential information to be given which will not be disclosed in the speech in the senate Thursday. Following his conference with senators, the president, Democratic leaders said today, probably will confer with leading Democrats and Republicans outside the senate who have been working for the league. Among those mentioned to attend such conference are former President Taft, former Attorney General Wickersham and former Senator Burton.

THREE CLAIM CHILD; PUZZLE UP TO JUDGE

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., July 8.—Who should receive the custody of pretty Miss Carmela Agnes Pines, fourteen—her father, grandfather or stepfather?

This question is puzzling a judge in the Circuit Court here. All three claim the girl and have filed suits to support the claim.

The case is a singular one. Mr. Pines was divorced from his wife, who was given the custody of the child and later remarried. She died recently.

The stepfather sought the guardianship of the girl, but this was denied on a modification of the divorce decree granted her father. Then the grandparent on the mother's side stepped in and also wanted the child. It developed into a wrangle in courts in Cook county, Ill., and Des Moines, Ia., finally being brought here.

The cause may be taken to the Supreme Court of Illinois.

"Some time in 1909 when I had an attack of indigestion and everything looked gloomy to me, I received a free sample of Chamberlain's Tablets by mail. I gave them a trial and they were such a help to me that I bought a package, and I can truthfully say that I have not had a similar attack since," writes Wm. B. THREE CLAIM CHILD; PUZZLE UP TO JUDGE

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., July 8.—Who should receive the custody of pretty Miss Carmela Agnes Pines, fourteen—her father, grandfather or stepfather?

This question is puzzling a judge in the Circuit Court here. All three claim the girl and have filed suits to support the claim.

The case is a singular one. Mr. Pines was divorced from his wife, who was given the custody of the child and later remarried. She died recently.

The stepfather sought the guardianship of the girl, but this was denied on a modification of the divorce decree granted her father. Then the grandparent on the mother's side stepped in and also wanted the child. It developed into a wrangle in courts in Cook county, Ill., and Des Moines, Ia., finally being brought here.

The cause may be taken to the Supreme Court of Illinois.

Mr. Wisler Cured of Indigestion.

"Some time in 1909 when I had an attack of indigestion and everything looked gloomy to me, I received a free sample of Chamberlain's Tablets by mail. I gave them a trial and they were such a help to me that I bought a package, and I can truthfully say that I have not had a similar attack since," writes Wm. B. Important Issues Awaiting President Wilson's Action

WASHINGTON, July 8.—President Wilson, returning to the United States today, is confronted with many important issues.

A great number of bills are on his desk at the White House awaiting signature. In addition, he is expected to name a charge d'affaires for the American embassy in Berlin, consult with Secretary Redfield with regard to resumption of commercial relations with Germany, after the trading with the enemy law expires upon the proclamation of peace; take action on the persistently reported desire of Secretary Baker to retire; to decide when demobilization will be ended and war prohibition may be lifted, and take a hand in plans for returning the railroads to their owners.

Among the bills before him are the sundry civil, army and navy, general deficiency, the act returning telegraph systems to their owners and the agricultural appropriation bill. The latter contains the clause repealing daylight saving. Petitions have been received against this repeal. The President's attitude toward it is not known.

Immediately upon his return to Washington he is expected to call an important meeting at which for the first time in months he will discuss domestic affairs with his official advisers.

Early decision is looked for on the question whether peace may be proclaimed at once or not until after the Senate has ratified the peace treaty.

Friends of Eugene V. Debs and other imprisoned radicals are expected soon to take their appeals to the White House.

The 1920 presidential campaign is already beginning to loom and some expression from the President as to a third term may be forthcoming, some observers believe. An utterance he made in a speech in Paris has been taken in some quarters here as being a hint that he did not want another term.

Administration Leaders Will Confer With Wilson

By L. C. MARTIN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Senate administration leaders today planned to confer with President Wilson as soon as possible after his return to Washington to map out with his aid their campaign for preventing league of nations opponents altering the league covenant.

Senators Hitchcock, Pittman, Gerry and Walsh, of Montana, are among those to whom, it is expected, President Wilson will confide his ideas concerning the best means of meeting the Borah-Johnson-Lodge-Root attack on the league.

The president's senate advisers said today he may call a general conference to be attended by the whole of the foreign relations committee as he did when he returned from Paris before with the first draft of the league.

Some such session will be necessary, senators said, because of confidential information to be given which will not be disclosed in the speech in the senate Thursday. Following his conference with senators, the president, Democratic leaders said today, probably will confer with leading Democrats and Republicans outside the senate who have been working for the league. Among those mentioned to attend such conference are former President Taft, former Attorney General Wickersham and former Senator Burton.

Another Step Forward in our Store Service has been our Installation of The "Measuregraph"

—At a cost of $1485.00, we have installed 9 of these wonderful instruments in our yard-goods departments.

—The instrument measures accurately to the fraction of an inch, and computes the total cost at the same operation.

—It saves time in measuring, eliminates errors both in measuring and computing, and raises the efficiency of our sales force by conserving their nervous energy.

—This is the appearance of the instrument as it is attached to our counters.

—You will find them in our Silk and Dress Goods Department, Wash Goods, Ribbons, Domestics, and Draperies. The only yard-goods that the "Measuregraph" cannot handle are Laces and Veilings.

How the MEASUREGRAPH Works

—The large illustration is the face view of the "Measuregraph."

—The clock-like dial is the measuring part, and to read it is as simple as reading the time of day from your watch. The "hour-hand" points to the yards, and the "minute-hand" points to the inches; that's all there is to it. As the dial appears in the illustration it measures 3 and $\frac{5}{8}$ yards or 3 yards and $22\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

—The computing scale appears above the dial, in double columns. The price per yard is on the left hand side of the column, and the total cost on the right. It gives it instantly, for instance, $3\frac{5}{8}$ yards of voile at 49c per yard amounts to \$1.78. There are 48 different prices listed.

—We invite your inspection of these instruments in our store, for after you understand their operation we believe you will appreciate their usefulness and advantages.

U. C. ALUMNI HIGH JINKS IN L. A. SATURDAY

Members of Association to Gather In Force
At Normal

The Alumni Association of the University of California is going to indulge in "high jinks" at the Normal school in Los Angeles Saturday night and an invitation is extended to every graduate of the university in the county to be in attendance. Dinner will be served on the lawn at 6 p. m., with the old college spirit evidenced in "high jinks" by those who feel the spirit, this to be followed with a reception and dance. The dinner will be $1 per plate.

Homer Havermale, alumni secretary and manager of the military branch of the U. C., was here today arranging committees for the big time. H. C. Head of Santa Ana has been appointed chairman of the county committee, which is composed of committees in Anaheim, Santa Ana and Fullerton.

The Santa Ana committee is composed of S. M. Reinhaus, '11; Miss Etta May Conkle, '15; Miss Margaret C. Gallup, '16.

Fullerton, E. J. Marks, '09; Dr. Jesse Chilton, '01; G. H. Gobar, '14. Anaheim, Miss E. K. Rae, '01; A. R. Heying, '09; Chas. Schindler, '10.

It is hoped to have the members of the association in different communities attend in a body and those interested should get in touch with the committees. Responses should be made to Miss Mildred Valera, secretary to the Dean at the summer school at the Normal, before July 10.

The big event will be in the nature of the celebration of three things—the second anniversary of the summer school at Normal, the extension of the U. S. to Southern California by making the Normal a branch and the termination by Benjamin Ide Wheeler of twenty years' service with the U. C. as president. He will sever his connection with the institution on the 15th of July, three days after the high jinks, and his address will be in the nature of a farewell to the association and college.

Dr. E. C. Moore, who is to become the head of the Los Angeles branch of the state university on July 21, when it is opened, will make the response to Wheeler's farewell address. Dr. Monroe E. Deutsch will also make an address.

BOLSHEVİK LAWS BY MILLIONS IN RUSSIA

"Free Republic" But Person Must Have Permit For Nearly Everything

NEW YORK, July 7.—American doughboys who fell into the hands of the bolsheviks as war prisoners were given an unwelcome course of lectures on bolshevism while in Moscow. The bolsheviks aimed to convert the Americans and send them home primed for agitation in America.

The plan failed, judging from the sentiments of five Americans who were released in Moscow and allowed to leave at the request of the United Press.

These men were: Bryant R. Ryall, Y. M. C. A. secretary, 345 Madison Avenue, New York City, who had been in Russia before doing civilian relief work; Sergeant Glenn W. Leitzell, Millinburg, Pennsylvania; Privates Freeman Hogan, 812 Casper Avenue, Detroit; Jens Laursen, Marlett, Michigan, and John Triplett, Hindman, Kentucky. In addition the party brought out Francis Linford, a wounded English lad from Sussex.

All the "Yanks" were captured on the Archangel front. When the bolsheviks surprised them by a flank movement, the "Yanks" were passed back from post to post until they arrived in Moscow. They were stripped of practically everything, including clothes.

Some of them had almost entirely Russian uniforms. The bolsheviks had a particularly keen eye for American "G. I." equipment, especially shirts. All of the Americans had bolshevik overcoats, their own having been stolen.

In Moscow the Americans were given fairly clean and decent quarters but were issued practically no food. A Red Cross fund, and later money from the Y. M. C. A., saved them from starvation. An American mess was soon started. The five did their own marketing and prepared their meals.

Allowed Much Freedom.

They were allowed a remarkable amount of freedom in Moscow, and could go about the city in daytime. At special times they had to report for lectures on bolshevism and the world revolution given by Russians who had lived abroad and spoke English.

The bolsheviks did their best to convert the Yankees, who kept their peace, and expressed no opinions until they had crossed the border into Finland. The doughboys were supposed to be "ripe" for bolshevism when they left Russia.

To learn what impression Russian bolsheviks had made upon the doughboys, the United Press correspondent asked them for their opinions, when they arrived at the internment camp in Terijoki, where the Finns quarantine arrivals from Russia.

Sergeant Leitzell said: "They're not making any bolsheviks of American prisoners. They try to preach bolshevism to us, but it doesn't go. They'd take men who've got brains who've accomplished something by ability and work, and reduce them to the lowest level. Who's going to stand for that!"

"They're a bunch of thieves and robbers. The leaders are preaching that everyone ought to have the same amount of money, but every leader has a pile of rubles stuck away that would knock your eye out. They all believe in the principle the Bolos had at the front. What's yours is mine—that's their creed."

"Bolos" is the name the Yankees on the Archangel front gave to the bolsheviks. Leitzell is an intelligent, spirited, red-headed American who came by his decisive ideas regarding bolshevism as the result of his first hand experiences.

Must Be Dirty.

Private Hogan is serious and deliberate. He speaks little and listens much. His views are equally interesting. "If America ever went bolshevik like Moscow," he said, "I'd make myself a lone hand to stand out against them. If you want to be a good bolshevik, you've got to be crummy and dirty. The majority of people in Russia wouldn't tolerate it, if it weren't for the fact they would starve to death if they opposed the Bolos."

Private Triplett, a rather easy going youth said, "I think the Bolos are just too damn lazy to work. If it weren't for the women they'd never get anything done. They have to dig the trenches at the front."

"You see the women carrying huge loads while some big bum of a bolshevik walks alongside carrying nothing. With the women doing everything, the men have to enlist, or the Bolos won't let them eat."

Private Laursen said, "I figure they're crooked and deceitful and are a bunch of cut-throats. All the honest ones want to get out of Russia as soon as possible. They all want to go to America. Like hell we'll let them in—if I see any I'm going to shoot 'em!"

That is what the ordinary American doughboy thinks of bolshevism. These chaps had three months to study it in Moscow, Mecca of the bolsheviks. The "Yanks" didn't bother themselves too much about theories—they saw bolshevism in practice, and these are the opinions they expressed as they lay on the grass in the sun outside the quarantine hospital in Finland, after they had escaped, and were in friends' hands.

TREATY PEACE MENACE DECLARES DAILY NEWS

LONDON, July 8.—Commenting lengthily on President Wilson's task when he returns to America, the Daily News declared the peace treaty is disappointing; a travesty on the fourteen points and a perilous menace to peace. "But it is signed," the News said, "and the only hope is to take it as it stands and re-shape it into what it might be. Wilson's defeat would be an international disaster."

SUGAR COMPANY TAKING TESTS AT BLYTHE

Holly People Are Considering Putting Up Plant In New Field

RIVERSIDE, July 8.—Several men in the Palo Verde valley are making experimental tests of the soil near Blythe to determine the soil properties of the valley for growing sugar beets. The crop of beets is tested scientifically once a month and the beets are sent from time to time to the Holly Sugar company in Orange county for further tests as to saccharine quality. The Blythe people are enthusiastic that a sugar factory will come out of the experiments. The Holly company says that if the tests prove true, it will establish a factory at Blythe.

Suspect In Blackmail Case Arrested As He Nears Hidden Money

SAN BERNARDINO, July 8.—John Judera was arrested near here early today charged with attempting to blackmail John Huff, wealthy rancher of San Bernardino county, out of $200. "We know you are stingy as hell," read the last of a series of blackmailing letters Huff had received. "That's why we are after you. We don't propose to lose any more time. You are a good for nothing old miser. You don't enjoy it. Why have it? Other jobs demand our attention. Come through or die."

The letter gave directions for leaving the money beneath a certain orange tree in a nearby grove, last night.

The money was taken to the designated spot and deputy sheriffs watched from hiding.

When Judera approached the spot he was arrested.

Officers said Judera admitted writing the letters to Huff.

FARMER HAS FLOWER POT MADE IN 1853

HEREFORD, Pa., July 8.—Ambrose H. Huber, a farmer and shoemaker, is in possession of an old earthen flower pot, fourteen inches in diameter and fifteen inches high, that was made by the late William Sleight in 1853 for the late George Huber, father of the owner. Sleight died twenty-five years ago, and was one of the oldest potters in Berks county. The pot was made in the oldest pottery then in the county, known as the Griesemer Pottery in Hereford Township, the ruins of which long ago disappeared. Sleight for a quarter of a century carried the United States mail between Hereford and Palm in Montgomery county, and was known as a "humorist" and was at one time a school teacher.

FORMER MILLIONAIRE NOW 87 SEEKS WORK

CHICAGO, July 8.—Apparently without a regret, without even a groan against the world, Henry Clinton Goodrich, 87 years of age, No. 1704 Humboldt Avenue, walked into the Handicap Division of the Federal Employment Agency one afternoon and asked for a job. Twenty years ago Goodrich was a multimillionaire. Now he is "broke." But before he left the office he had a job that will pay him $4 a day.

Goodrich, who came to Chicago 82 years ago, is an inventor. His inventions centered around the sewing machine, and from several patents he made more than $2,000,000. Do you remember the little old slates with the red-covered edges? Goodrich made them.

Unwise investments in real estate followed the prosperity, and he became penniless.

In choosing pullets for small back yards, very light-colored and white birds should be avoided, as their plumage shows dirt too readily. Where the soil of the yard is clayey, pullets with feathers on the legs and those with more than four toes on each foot should be rejected.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers—No pain!

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.—Adv.

PRICES DOWN MILEAGE UP

Goodrich's New Adjustment

Having, on May 12, marked down tire prices, Goodrich next promptly marked up its adjustment mileage figures.

It lifted adjustments to 6,000 miles for Safety Treads, and 8,000 for Silvertown Cords, instead of 3,500 and 5,000 miles, respectively, heretofore in force.

Goodrich marked down prices in strict accordance with the Goodrich policy always to give the user the benefit of Goodrich economies of manufacture.

Goodrich marked up its adjustment mileage because the wonderful endurance and service Goodrich Tires are showing in actual service demanded adjustment that squared with performance.

Remember it's a Goodrich Adjustment, always safe and conservative, based on a greater mileage consistently given by Goodrich Tires.

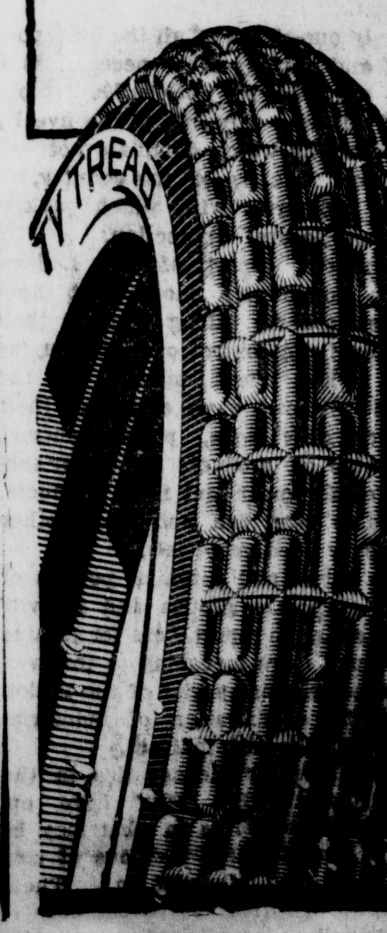

Goodrich knows its tires are brimful of mileage, and it wants every automobile driver to have a generous share of it.

Future Limas

Do you know that the majority of Lima bean growers outside the pool received far more for their beans than can possibly be realized by members of the pool? War conditions, which necessitated regulation of the food supply of the United States, combined with the importation of large quantities of foreign beans, was undoubtedly responsible for the unstable market during the past year.

The limited supply of lima beans in view indicates a strong market at high figures.

With peace now signed and a heavy international demand for all food products can you afford to pool your beans?

THE EMBLEMATIC DAISY

A controversy has arisen over the daisy, as a result of the selection of that flower as an emblem by the "liberals," who want the prohibition laws relaxed.

An ardent woman prohibitionist, in a letter to a newspaper, makes this withering comment:

"What better emblem could have been chosen by the 'wets'? The daisy—hated by farmers as a pest, of absolutely no value to man or beast!

"Just as animals refuse to drink beer, so they refuse to eat the daisy. It crowds into fields of grain; it runs riot in meadows, spoiling the hay, and spreads like a thing evil over pastures."

"Animals turn from it with contempt, nibbling the short grass which struggles up to life from among the roots of the daisy."

"The daisy—true emblem of booze—allowed to remain, crowds out of the pasture the life-giving, food-producing grass and eventually drives the animals to starvation; forces its way into fields of grain, spoiling the harvest and occupying space which should be used to grow food."

"Booze—if allowed to remain—drives not cattle but men, women and innocent children to starvation. The 'daisy-wearing man' takes the grain which God gives us to use as the 'staff of life,' and makes of it the 'curse of life.'"

Over against this arraignment might be set the testimony of Chaucer, the "father of English poetry," who wrote, 500 years ago, in his "Legende of Fair Women":

"Of alle the floures in the mede,
Than love I most these floures white and rede.

Such as men callen dayseyes in our town.

So glad am I, whan that I have presence

Of it, to doon it alle reverence,
As she that is of alle floures flour,
Fulfilled of all vertue and honour,
And ever ilike faire and freshe of hewe.

Alas, that I ne had English, ryme
or prose,
Suffisant this flour to preysse aught!"

So the reader may take his choice. Perhaps, though, no choice is really necessary. The modern feminine critic was speaking from the viewpoint of utility, the poet from the viewpoint of art.

There are a good many things that we used to think were blessings that we now regard as anything but that. Take, for instance, Johnson's grass. When it was brought to this country years ago by a Villa Park rancher it was hailed as a wonderful forage crop. It has turned out to be a pest of high degree, in the same class here with the daisy in the East.

There was a time when nearly everyone thought whiskey was a boon to humankind. That time has gone by. Even those who still advocate its use, those who wear the daisy, must know in their hearts that it has always been a gigantic curse.

FOOD MONOPOLY

One of the big Chicago packing-houses announced recently, in a public statement, with a great show of humility and modesty, that it only controlled about 12 per cent of basic foodstuffs consumed in the United States.

Only one-eighth of all the beef, pork, lard and various other necessities of life required by 105,000,000 people! And this was only one of the five big corporations which dominate not only the meat industry of the country, but many industries with which packers have no natural connection.

A recent report of the Federal Trade Commission shows that these master-packers, along with their "monopolistic control over the buying and selling meat markets of the United States," have extended their control over eggs, poultry, cheese, vegetable oil products and other substitutes for meat and meat products, and also rice, fish and many other necessary food materials.

The actual and potential powers of these corporate groups and individuals, adds the report, "are far greater and much more menacing to the welfare and true prosperity of the nation than the enumeration of industrial possessions would indicate."

"This greater menace lies in the fact that the 'Big Five' have entrenched themselves in what may be called the strategic positions of control of food distribution. These strategic positions serve not only to protect the controls which the big packers have already acquired, but to insure their easy conquest of new fields."

The report then enumerates stock-yards, terminal roads, cattle-loan banks, market papers, private refrigerator car lines for the transportation of all kinds of perishable food, cold storage plants, branch distributing houses, banks and many other important factors, all of which amount to "bulwarks of monopoly."

It is time that serious attention be given to this situation. The monopolistic evils of the railroad industry and other big industries have been corrected, or are in process of correction. The alleged food monopoly touches the public more vitally than any of the other monopolies ever did, and must be handled accordingly.

QUEUES OR NO QUEUES?

Last April a Chinese laborer in France started growing a queue. That in itself does not seem to be an incident of international importance. Yet a few years ago all the men in the village from which that particular laborer came cut off their queues and began to wear their hair as people of the western world do. That was their first step toward adopting some of the ways of western civilization.

In the same way that the cutting of the queue was a step away from their old life, the return to it is a protest against what they saw and experienced in France. Hundreds of those Chinese laborers are doing just as that one has done—they are re-growing their queues.

There were 140,000 Chinese workers in France during the war. About 20,000 of that number have already returned to their native land, and others are following steadily. Not so very long ago that number could have returned without causing much excitement among the four hundred millions of their brethren. Today it is different. They are eagerly awaited and questioned by the people of a China that is awake and getting ready to make some big decisions as to its own future.

The war was a great and disturbing experience to Europe and America. It was even more so to China, for it showed the idealized western civilization of which they had heard, at its worst, apparently broken down and destroying itself. If those Chinese now returning to the Orient see only the horrors of civilized warfare and none of the ideals which are stirring in the hearts of mankind, they are going to make some of their decisions against our kind of civilization. Queues or no queues may become significant of a China returning to its old lethargy, or a China strong and determined at any cost to win great things for itself in the world.

Still a Dixie

Houston Post

"Is there still a Dixie?" asks Life in its "Dixie Number." Yes, there still is a Dixie. A Dixie in the hearts of some of our older ones, and in that realm of the spirit fancy may summon visions of the most beautiful of scenes, the loveliest of faces, and days of cloudless blue! Dixie, the east to which those of us who stand on the rim of the fading day turn in devotion, while the shadows creep! Dixie the glory land of the past, the golden bourn of memory's silent rambles, the hallowed solitude in whose cool depths the lost chords of life breathe their music into the soul! Dixie, love's shadowland, peopled with the unfettered spirits of the noble and the great, redolent of memories that do not die because they cluster about things immortal, templed with the dream-fabrics of a nation that drew from God's boundless deep and, after four years of romance, poetry and glory, turned again home! Dixie, the beautiful and glorious, the sweetest chapter of history, the noblest epic of the ages, the light of yesterday whose effulgence glides the crest of time's swift onward tide! Dixie, the stainless mother of the nation, the indestructible kingdom of the twilight—Dixie, the incomparable south of our dreams! Yes, there still is a Dixie.

Conquests

Fresno Republican

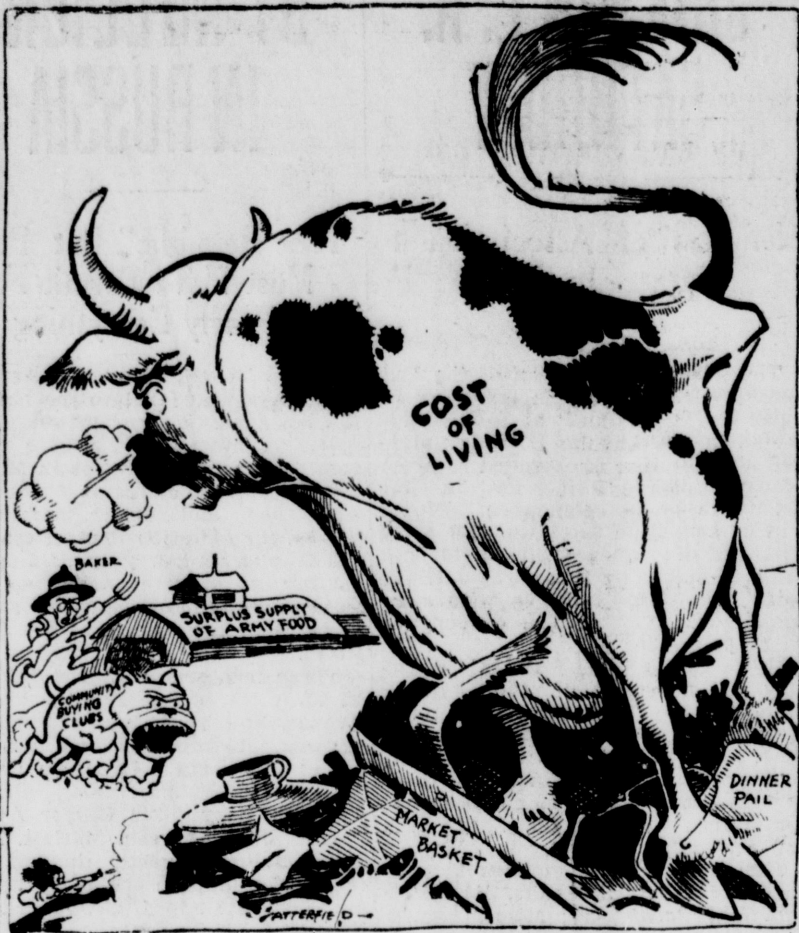

From San Diego de Alcalá, in 1769, to San Francisco de Asis, on the Laguna de los Dolores, in 1776, was a seven years' journey for the pious Fra Junipero. Now, by aeroplane, it is a new record of 4 hours, 32 minutes and 30 seconds. Even after Serra's missions were founded, San Diego, San Juan Capistrano, San Gabriel, San Buenaventura, San Luis Obispo, San Antonio de Padua, San Carlos, Santa Clara, San Francisco, and after thirteen others were added by his successors, with the Camino Real joining them, it was still a journey of weeks. Until the coming of the railroad, it could scarcely be done in less than the twenty-one days marked by the mission stages. Now it is four hours and a half—an interlude between luncheon and golf.

These records are being broken almost too fast to commemorate them. While we are reading the dispatches regarding a new Atlantic passage, somebody flies over Fresno at 150 miles an hour, to break the California record. Before we get over wondering at that, word will come from Hawaii of the completion of the first leg of the trans-Pacific flight. The next news will be of a race around the world, to see who can make it in a week.

And yet it was five years from the Marne to the Rhine! It was six months from peace to partial justice. It may be a whole generation from liberty to order, in Russia. And the United States Senate is still debating the question whether we have passed beyond 1789.

We have conquered the earth and the sea and the air. We have conquered space and time. But we have barely begun the conquest of our own spirits.

Roosevelt's Religion

John J. Leary, Jr., in McClure's.

During the 1916 campaign, Colonel Roosevelt had an attack of dry pleurisy which kept him away from church one Sunday. Late that afternoon I called and remarked that the "boys thought it funny you did not go to church."

"Huh, they did, did they? Well, you just tell them that if they think pleurisy is a joke, they'd better try it. I am just going to stay right in here the next four or five days. Anyway, so far as church is concerned, I just had the Reverend Talmage up to look me over."

"Speaking of church, you once told me you were heterodox. That's right, isn't it? Well, do you know, I think—I wonder if you recall one verse of Micah that I am very fond of—to do justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God—that to me is the essence of religion. To be just with all men, to be merciful to those to whom mercy should be shown, to realize that there are some things that must always remain a mystery to us, and when the time comes for us to enter the great blackness, to go smiling and unafraid."

"That is my religion, my faith. To me it sums up all the creed I need. It seems simple and easy, but there is more in that verse than in the involved rituals and confessions of faith of many creeds we know."

"To love justice, to be merciful, to appreciate that the great mysteries shall not be known to us, and so living, face the beyond confident and without fear—that is life."

"That's too simple a creed for many of us, though. Perhaps it is as well that that through more involved paths and mazes of theology the majority should seek the same result."

"I can quarrel with no man because of his religion. The Roman Catholic, the Jew, the Protestant, the Mohammedan, the follower of Confucius—all are right so long as they seek to follow what their leaders have taught. You have done much of prison work. You know that the Roman Catholic in prison, not because of his faith but because he broke away from it, the Jew is there because he and the synagogue are no longer friends; the Protestant because his religion has ceased to be a living thing and his soul has atrophied."

"You know that."

"My, but I have no patience with those who attack, who would destroy a man's belief in religion—no patience with those who would convert the Jew en masse, or the Catholic. More likely than not, where they succeed at all they succeed only in destroying something—they take something real away and give nothing in return, leaving the victim bankrupt. I am always sorry for the faithless man, just as I am sorry for the woman without chastity."

Worth While Verses

SLUMBER SONG.

Sleep; and my song build about your bed
A Paradise of dimness: You shall feel
The folding of tired wings; and peace will dwell
Throned in your silence; and one hour shall hold
Summer and midnight, and immensity
Lulled to forgetfulness. For where you dream,
The stately gloom of foliage shall embower
Your slumbering thought with tapestries of blue,
And there shall be no memory of the sky,
Nor sunlight with its cruelty of swords,
But, to your soul that sinks from deep to deep
Through drowned and glimmering color, time shall be
Only rhythmic swaying; and your breath;
And roses in the darkness; and my love.

For Good Measure

By the Editor
I heard a man complaining the other day that he would like to "own his own home" in Santa Ana, but that "real estate was too high—he couldn't afford to buy."

Well, it may be a fact that real estate in Santa Ana is a little higher than it is in some other places where the resources are less substantial, the climate less salubrious, the home conditions less desirable. But that's not the point. The point is that real estate, high or low, here or there, will never be any lower. Get that? Never be any lower anywhere. And just as an investment—a mere material investment—not to consider the social factor of home owning—there is absolutely nothing so low-priced as Santa Ana's "high" real estate. While there may be many forms of investment that may yield quicker returns, there is nothing surer in the long run than ownership of a slice of the earth's surface, particularly in a growing town like Santa Ana.

This is not an advertisement. It is an incontrovertible fact. Panics may come along and shake the life out of stocks and bonds and other securities, but every foot of ground on the earth's surface grows more valuable every day. Even earthquakes cause but temporary fluctuations in its value, as witness San Francisco. Real estate is all that it's name implies—a real or actual estate—and it will continue to be the best of all investments until "the great globe itself shall dissolve and like the baseless fabric of a vision leave not a rack behind."

A letter received at the Washington postoffice, according to a story now being told at the capital, was addressed as follows: "Bone-Head Bureau, Washington, D. C." Without a moment's hesitation one of the letter carriers wrote on the envelope: "Try War Risk Insurance." The Bureau of War Risk Insurance welcomed the letter with open arms, in fact recognized instantly that it was addressed to the bureau, and opened it. The text ran something as follows: "This letter was addressed to the 'Bone-Head Bureau' on a bet that it would be delivered to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance. Was it?" The writer, whoever he may be, is hereby assured that it was.

Aw shucks! Can't a fellow ever write an editorial on general principles, touching a system or a policy, without having personal application made of it?

Of course it was not intended in that editorial in yesterday's Register on "Public Service," to blame or criticize the City Trustees. They have trouble enough without being "jumped on" unnecessarily. They can't spend any more money than they have, either for deep wells or scavenger service. And they can't go beyond the state law limit in levying taxes. Santa Ana, you know, although a modern little city of over 15,000 inhabitants, is governed by an antiquated state law designed to govern little towns of 500 to 1,500 people—"Cities of the Sixth Class."

To be sure, the Trustees might raise assessed valuations or add some other way to get by. And perhaps the new board will do something of the kind when it gets a chance.

But we ought to have a special charter, enabling the city to do business according to changing conditions and necessities.

FOREIGNER IS BLIND BUT BECOMES CITIZEN

BALTIMORE, Md., July 8.—Blinded in both eyes by a machine gun bullet on the Verdun front November 9 last, two days before the signing of the armistice, James Trigue Riddervold, a Norwegian, recently asked to be made an American citizen. His citizenship was granted.

Riddervold was a sergeant of the 324th Infantry, 81st Division. He is going back to visit his relatives in Norway for a while, and then he will return to take up life as a Baltimorean. He has been in the army since 1912. He went to France in August, 1919, and soon afterward was sent to the front. He was one of the first to start into No Man's Land the day he lost his sight. First aid followed a trip to a hospital behind one of the Verdun lines and he remained there for several months.

JUST TO BE A CHILD AGAIN

Just to be a child again—to skip across the sea;
To hear the whisper of a breeze, the droning of a bee;
Just to be a child again, to pull the star-like flowers,
And watch the sun creep through the sky and mark the passing hours.

Just to be a child again . . . and summer on the way;
Just to be a child upon a gorgeous holiday;
Just to feel the grasses bend beneath one's joyous feet;
Just to breathe the country air, as fresh as dew and sweet!

Just to be a child again—and Mont-Lawn opened wide;
Just to be a child to stand athrill and wonder-eyed,
With hands outstretched upon the edge of a bright holiday;
Just to be a child again—and summer on the way!

Art School Students

Miss Evelyn Nunn, formerly of the Santa Ana High School art department and now instructor in the Girls' High School at Riverside, is conducting a summer art school at Laguna.

A group of Riverside girls is spending the month there attending the institution. The girls are located in the Hunter cottage on the bluffs and have a tent to accommodate the "overflow." Various "shifts" have charge of the work at different hours. The scheme works well in the co-operation of housework.

The days are very busy for the girls, all of whom are energetic art students, and under the charming tutelage of Miss Nunn, are doing some very good work. Artists all agree on the natural beauty of the beach, and a better place for students would be hard to find. The hills, rocks and ocean all afford wonderful nature studies and the girls are charmed (as they should be) with the surroundings and opportunities abounding there.

Good times are not neglected either, and there are all kinds of jolly times when the brushes and paints are laid aside for the day.

The Riverside girls include Misses: Thelma Henderson, Sarah Neblett, Sarah Sherr, Ruth Snyder, Katherine Gamble and Mildred Porter.

Daly-Wingood

The engagement of Miss Elsie Wingood and James R. Daly was announced yesterday at a luncheon given by Miss Wingood for a few of her most intimate friends.

The wedding will be solemnized in San Francisco today. The bride was accompanied north by the groom's sister and brother and Miss Norma Wingood, who will go with them to their home in Dos Palos for a visit.

The bride is one of Santa Ana's most brilliant young women. She has made her home with her aunt, Mrs. W. C. Gould, and her sister, Miss Norma, for many years, graduating from the local high school and Stanford University. She also attended Pomona College for some time.

Following her graduation from Stanford, Miss Wingood taught for a year at San Jose.

She is a charming young woman and her large circle of friends will extend to her her best wishes for every happiness.

Mr. Daly is a San Joaquin Valley cotton grower. It is regretted that business details kept him from coming south to claim his bride.

At Keen Camp

Mr. and Mrs. George Cary are enjoying a week's vacation at Keen Camp. Mr. Cary has recently been discharged from the army, so the change will be doubly agreeable to him. Mr. and Mrs. M. E. McKee drove them up Saturday evening and will return for them Sunday.

Missionary Meeting

The missionary society of the First Presbyterian church will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The first half hour will be devoted to missionary study with Mrs. Victor Montgomery as leader. Mrs. A. M. McDermott will have charge of the program for the afternoon, the subject being "The Philippines, Porto Rico and Cuba."

A Few Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Browning left Sunday on a two weeks' touring trip to San Francisco and the northern part of the state.

Mrs. Alice Harris is visiting this week in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Norman Hoyle, her daughter and son, Miss Gwendolyn and Wynton Hoyle, will be at Balboa through the month of August.

the most popular beach on the coast for the young people. It's the first place they go to celebrate a football game, a "rube" day or any school activity, so it is only natural that during the summer afternoons and week-ends the beach is crowded with swimming parties, wiener bakes and house parties.

Last week-end, on account of the Fourth, there were even more parties than usual. Some of the Santa Ana girls staying over were Misses Marion Buckley, Myrtle Law, Adella Merzold, Muriel Cravath, Luella and Florence Neff, Lorraine Roberts, Gwendolyn Hoyle and Verrian Cravath. Alice Fuller and Guenevere Damon of Orange and Lloyd Cole of Los Angeles. "Spreads" are always popular, too, and last Sunday evening Miss Marion Buckley gave a jolly one to sixteen of her friends at the Edgar cottage.

Miss Buckley left last night for Bakersfield. Upon her return in about a month, she will become the bride of Nelson Edgar.

Pretty Wedding

Miss Marguerita Collier of Newport, Ky., became the bride of Edgar Aaron Adams last Wednesday at the home of E. H. Adams, Villa Park.

The Rev. J. J. Jones of the Villa Park Congregational church officiated with the double ring service. Miss Eva Martin of Santa Ana played the wedding march. Miss Nellie Adams and Robert Adams, sister and brother of the groom, were maid of honor and best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams are spending their honeymoon at Laguna Beach. Upon their return they will make their home in Orange.

Home From Overseas

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Randall of 115 South Birch street are rejoicing over the return of the United States of their youngest son, Col. Guy Randall, who has made a wonderful war record for so young a man.

Having only had cadet training for two years in college, the young man went overseas as captain, also having secured in that capacity for an engineers' company on the border. Before coming home for demobilization, Col. Randall served on the reparation and indemnities board in France and was in charge of returning troops on the Montana homeward bound, arriving July 1. His home is in the east, where he has a wife and little son.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall are also much interested in the "elopement in the clouds" of Warren Kite, a young aviator, who with his sister, were chums and childhood playmates of Col. Randall, their son.

Return Home

Mrs. Herbert Gray and her two sons, Fitzhugh and Charles Herbert, left yesterday for their home in Weaver, Mrs. Gray had been with her mother, Mrs. M. A. Edwards, and her sister, Miss Katherine Edwards, through the winter, while Fitzhugh attended high school.

Miss Rosa Boyd accompanied them as far as Oakland, where she will visit for a week or two with her cousin, Mrs. D. D. Purinton, and Mrs. Paul Shoup. Mr. Shoup is president of the S. P. and P. E. railways.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Cox and son Edwin have gone to Big Bear for an outing. They took their daughters, Anita and Vivian to Hemet, where they will work in the fruit during the busy period.

Pope Hill, who has been living for the past seven years in Riverside, where he was employed by the Pacific Electric Company, has returned to Santa Ana to live. His many friends will be glad to hear that he has joined the selling force of Hill and Carden.

CAN'T RAISE CROPS SO LAND IS DENIED

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—Nearly four years after filing upon 240 acres of desert land in the Whitewater River Valley, Josiah South learned yesterday his application was rejected because, in the opinion of Receiver Alex Mitchell and Register Ben F. Graves, his scheme to irrigate the land was impractical. The land office examiner held that he did not believe the applicant could obtain sufficient water from the Whitewater River successfully to grow crops. The experience of the last few seasons has demonstrated this view to be correct. South having failed to harvest a single crop worth while in any season, though he has assiduously assayed to cultivate various parts of his claim and has spent considerable money in digging ditches, clearing land and attempting to make it produce.

MALVERN, La., July 8.—Mr. and Mrs. John Davidson of Hastings lost three horses recently, and the combined ages of the three animals was ninety-six years. Mr. Davidson raised the horses from colts and they had never been out of his possession. The Davidsons also hold some other records for long time possession. They have a wringer they have owned for forty-two years, and are still using, and a Howe sewing machine still in use after the same length of time. And they have delivered milk to one customer for thirty-five years.

"Because," the kiddie explained when he had recovered his breath, "mother's found the lady that pinched our doormat!" — Sydney (N. S. W.) Bulletin.

FIRE BURNS SUPPORTS UNDER BIG WATER TANK

FULLERTON, July 8.—Saturday night shortly before 8 o'clock the fire department was called to the ranch of C. E. Holcomb out on West Walnut street, where the support for a 1000-gallon water tank was on fire, caught from a gasoline engine that had backfired. The fire endangered the residence, also a large barn, which the firemen and volunteers saved by forming a bucket brigade and keeping the building wet down. The support for the tank finally burned so that the tank was about half filled with water, which splashed over the burning supports and extinguished the fire. The tank fortunately did not burst when it dropped to the ground, but the top flew off and released the water, thereby extinguishing its own fire. Holcomb is a banker with interests in Fullerton and Anaheim.

PROHIBITION LEAK TO BE STOPPED IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The leak in the wartime prohibition levee through which 2.75 per cent beer is trickling to an otherwise arid land seemed likely soon to be stopped, as the House of Representatives met today.

Prohibition leaders planned to center their efforts on speedy passage of laws that will enable the department of justice to take action against those who are now selling beer. This was to be accomplished by defining intoxicating liquor as any beverage containing one-half of one per cent, or more, of alcohol.

Republican Leader Mondell favored a separate bill for the enforcement of war-time prohibition, in order that it might be rushed through this week.

3 DEAD, 2 MISSING IN BLAZE ON BARGE

STOCKTON, July 8.—Three dead and two missing is the toll in human lives as the result of a fire last night on a barge loaded with hemp at the local warehouse docks. One man was burned to death and two were drowned when they leaped into the water to escape the flames. Twelve men were trapped on the boat when the fire started. The hemp burned rapidly and the flames were so high that their escape was cut off almost immediately.

The dead are: Jerry Donovan, Nicholas Rodriguez and Tony Peters. The missing are Tony Garcia and an unknown man.

Fred Bradley was injured. The loss is about $110,000. The barge belonged to the Island Transportation company. The 400 bales of hemp aboard was the property of Rindge and Pabst.

Industrial Commissions Fail to Get Beyond Stage of Conversation

By FRANK J. TAYLOR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 8.—Starting the industrial wheels going and keeping them moving is the greatest problem confronting the bolsheviks at present. The task is made doubly difficult by the fact that the bolsheviks feel heir to a defunct industrial organization left over from the old regime.

Factories erected by the Russian capitalists were on the verge of collapse and were built for exploitation mainly. The railroads were in poor condition and were short of rolling stock.

Add to this the lack of management and the abolition of individual initiative which followed the overflow of the capitalistic system, and one realizes some of the difficulties the bolsheviks face.

Industrial commissions have been formed to plan reconstruction of factories, but so far plans have not advanced much beyond the discussion stage. The bolsheviks claim they cannot accomplish anything while they are at war with the world and cannot get supplies and machinery they need, and their men at the front.

As the result of experiments conducted so far, the bolsheviks are coming to realize that individual initiative is hard to substitute, and that all men are not of the same value. A commission of so-called experts is planning new industries for the government.

In addition the bolsheviks have decided they must make concessions to capitalist enterprise to encourage new development. Consequently they are offering concessions to capitalists who will build certain railroads and factories.

Concessions Not Acceptable
The concessions as yet are not acceptable, since capital must comply with the Russian Code of Labor, limiting hours of labor and giving the workmen the right to set their own wages.

Industries operated by the state have been running under this system, but at a loss, which the state makes up by printing money. Capitalists hesitate to accept concessions under these conditions, though handsome offers are made of alternate strips of timber land on both sides of a railroad to be built across northern Russia.

According to the bolsheviks, they were forced to seize the Russian industries after the revolution. In an interview with Grigori Melnitenansky, Moscow labor chief, who formerly was known in New York as George N. Melcher, labor leader and agitator, the following explanation of the early revolutionary situation was given the United Press:

"When the war with Germany ended the Russian capitalists just closed their shops," said Melnitenansky. "They had made enough money and were ready to retire. The workmen were out of work and out of luck. We demanded work, and insisted that they pay us while they waited to reopen the factories. The capitalists replied that they had no intention of opening the shops again. We could starve."

"If it had been in America, it never would have happened that way. American capitalists would have been ready to start peace-time production the day after the war ended. But not the Russian capitalist."

"The workmen in Moscow held meetings and finally decided they would have to take the factories and operate them. That was before the bolsheviks overthrew Kerensky in Petrograd. So you see we industrial unionists were the first to declare bolshevik tactics."

"Of course when we decided to seize the factories, the fighting started. It was confined at first to a few factories inside Moscow and a district we seized. But old government guards started it and were getting the best of us. Then we called a general fight of the unions against the government, and when the workmen from the suburb factories attacked the troops from the rear, we won out."

"But you see, we had bolshevism forced upon us by the capitalists. You can't really see the situation, because it never would have happened so in America. Now all we want is a chance to work our system out without interference from the outside."

Probably the body upon which the future of soviet Russia hangs more than upon anything else is the extraordinary economic soviet, headed by Alex. Ivan Rikoff, a radical Russian journalist, who has gathered about him the bolshevik economic staff.

This body is trying to replace the initiative taken by capitalism in the old days with an inspired initiative. It has conducted a complete investigation of conditions and has gathered much data.

Rikoff's commission has drawn up plans for some new industries. It has also definitely opened negotiations with foreign capitalists to build up industries in Russia. According to Rikoff, Russia wants benevolent capitalists.

"We will permit individual concerns so long as they operate on a socialistic basis," he said. "We need materials and skilled managers from the outside. We would rather get them from America than from any other country, because there will be no political strings attached to deals with Americans."

"Capitalists would have to make the same labor conditions we do, of course. Our industrial unions set the wages the factories must pay, with the endorsement of this commission. We realize we cannot live without making concessions, both outside and inside Russia. Many of our unions have already adopted the piece system for wages, contrary to communistic theories. Wages range from 650 to 2200 rubles per month for laborers, with bonuses for managers. Later, maybe we can make everyone equal, but now we must make concessions."

PARIS, July 8.—The three best shots in the American Expeditionary force are Sergeant J. F. Waters, Corporal L. K. Peyton and Corporal Delmar Rippey.

In a recent pistol and rifle meet held at Le Mans, which was watched closely by General Pershing, the first prize was won by Peyton. The second went to Waters and the third to Rippey. Each won a gold medal. Peyton and Rippey are from the Fifth Marines.

Many high scores were made at the contest, showing the American marksmen, perhaps the best in the world.

WILLIE MEEHAN MAY GET FIGHT WITH CHAMP

Carpentier Burned Out, Say Critics; Moran Bid Not Taken Seriously

By H. C. HAMILTON.
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 8.—Since there is so much speculation on a probable opponent for Jack Dempsey, now that he has gained the heavyweight title, it probably would be a good thing for the public and the boxing game if a few aspirants to the match were counted out before they run afoul of the champion's fists.

Providing Georges Carpentier never had been matched with Joe Beckett for the European championship, it is not improbable that the Frenchman would have been selected as the first Dempsey victim. But as he stands in such great danger of being eliminated in the Beckett match, he is hardly worth consideration.

Carpentier is not in shape for a match with anyone, to say nothing of a battle for the world's title. It is declared here by competent critics who have seen the French champion during the war that he is fat and burned up inside; that he has not taken good care of himself, and that he never will be in fighting condition again.

So much for Carpentier. Frank Moran has bid for a match. He is a mere third-rate boxer, nothing more. And that ends him.

Fat Willie Meehan holds a decision over Dempsey, gained in California in four rounds. Meehan's friends declare Meehan is a sure winner over this distance. With Dempsey defending the title, a meeting probably would mean disaster for the fat boy. He is the most desirable of any of the heavyweights now ready for a whirl at the title, since Billy Miske has dodged a new match with Willard's conqueror.

So much hokum is being smoked, however, that there is every likelihood Dempsey will be sent into the ring in New Jersey about Labor Day.

Watching the Scoreboard

Yesterday's hero: Frank Baker. The home run king busted one into the stands in the ninth, tied the score, and then the Yanks whipped the Senators, 3 to 2.

The terrible slaughter of the Phils placed the Giants on top again in the National. Scores 10 to 5 and 7 to 2.

Mayer was hammered for 16 safe drives by the Cardinals, but Pittsburg won 14 to 9.

The Tigers slipped out of the first division by losing to the White Sox, 3 to 8.

The Browns continued their offensive and the Indians were forced to bite the dust, 3 to 2.

The Red Sox waved farewell to Boston with their bats as they polished off the Athletics twice, 2 to 0 and 5 to 4.

BOY TO PAY COLLEGE EXPENSES WITH PIGS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 7.—In July, 1917, Levi Young, living three miles south of Riley, then a fifteen-year-old boy, obtained a pure-bred Duroc in the distribution of pigs by a Terre Haute Trust Company. Levi was a charter member of the first pig club started in Vigo county.

From this little start, a hog weighing only 60 pounds, Levi has built up a herd of pure-bred animals which now number thirty, including a boar to head the herd and five sows, which farrowed this spring.

"I wouldn't trade my bunch for a farm in Texas," said the youthful hog breeder. "At least it would take over $1,000 to buy them now."

Hog men who have seen Levi's animals declare that $1,000 is a decidedly conservative estimate in placing their value. Thus, he has earned more than $500 a year while attending high school.

The boy expects to pay his own way through high school and college via the pig route. He will hold his first sale next fall and also will consign one or two animals to the Junior Livestock Breeders' Association sale, which will be arranged soon.

Nebraskan and Family Held Prisoners Until Armistice Is Signed

Associations Gradually Getting Back Into Harness For Shipments

HASTINGS, Neb., July 7.—"I never loved the dear old United States as I do now, and I'll never leave it again as long as I live unless I am compelled to."

This is the pledge made by C. G. Schmidt on his return to his former home in Nebraska after he and his wife and children were released from a German prison camp and permitted to leave the country following the signing of the armistice. Schmidt and his family were prisoners in the land of his birth for more than a year and suffered many hardships.

At the outbreak of the war in 1914 Schmidt and members of his family were great admirers of the kaiser. This championship became so pronounced that neighbors took exception to it, and finally the Schmidts sold their farm and other belongings and with the savings of many years returned to Germany and invested in property there.

Then the United States entered the war, and conditions changed for the Schmidts. All their possessions in the Fatherland, the elder Schmidt says, were seized by command of the military authorities, and every member of the family was sent to a German prison camp, where they were held until the armistice was signed last November. They managed to scrape together enough money to bring them back, and lost no time in returning. They are now living on a rented farm not far from Hastings.

Some of the citrus associations in this county are resuming the picking of Valencia's, and there is prospect that the eastern markets will begin to take a good many more oranges than they did during the period just before the Fourth of July.

For a period of about ten days the fruit exchange discouraged shipments. It was planned to hold back orange shipments so that eastern markets would have time to get rid of heavy shipments of cantaloupes and fruits.

The various associations are expecting to be busy the remainder of the season, as the season's crop is heavy.

DOES NOT WANT APPROVE BOND OF CONTRACTOR FINLEY

520 ACRES IN MISSOURI

Alleging False and Fraudulent Representations, Clark Asks Rescission of Contract

Herbert C. Clark traded twenty acres of good Orange county land for 520 acres in Missouri without seeing it. Now he's sorry, and through Attorney Edna and Koepsel has brought suit for rescission of the exchange contract.

The defendant in the case is J. G. Delozier, and Clark has already deeded to Delozier his twenty-acre ranch in the Stanton-Cypress district.

In April last, according to the complaint, the contract was entered into, Clark trading his twenty acres for 520 acres in Texas county, Missouri. The deal was made, he alleges, on Delozier's representations that 100 acres were in cultivation, 400 were capable of cultivation, that walnut timber on the place was worth $10,000 and other timber $10,000 and that it had not been cut over, that the place was reasonably worth $15,000 and the lease would bring in $1,000 a year.

Only just recently, Clark alleges, was he able to get a reliable report on the Missouri property, and as a result of this report, he alleges that he is the victim of "false and fraudulent" representations, in that he claims only 60 acres are under cultivation, only 100 acres are capable of cultivation, all the good walnut timber has been cut off and there is now left to speak of, the timber is only worth about $3,000, the place is reasonably worth only $5,000, and the crop this year is worthless and therefore the lease will not bring in $1,000 or anything.

Clark asks rescission of the exchange contract and that Delozier be made to re-convey to Clark his twenty-acre orange county ranch.

"It's a darn good thing every one on this ship hasn't got it as bad as I have or they'd have to call off the war while we wrote love letters."

SOMEBODY SAYS CITY FULL OF TATTLETALES

Neighbors Tell on Each Other For Using Water on Off Days

"Oh, dear me! This city is full of tattletales—one neighbor telling on the other for using water on prohibited days," today declared an attaché of the city water office.

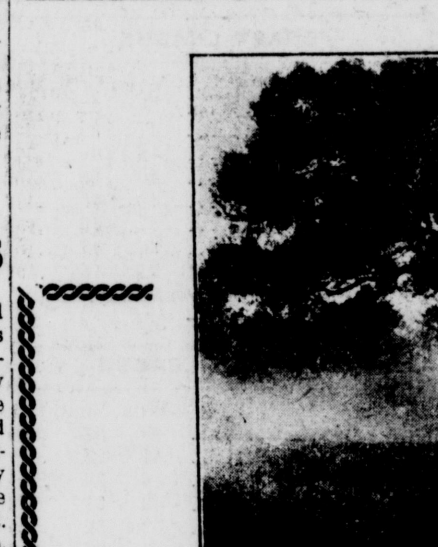

"We are having our troubles, and you bet if anyone thinks that it is all smooth sailing in the office at all times, he is decidedly mistaken," continued the one who gave vent to feelings incident to the situation existing particularly at this time, when certain portions of the city are restricted from the use of water for sprinkling except on certain days.

"Why, do you know, they kick if you do and they kick if you don't. There is always some kind of kick coming—the price of water is too high, the meter was read wrong, etc. 'I just wish we had oodles of water, so that we could give somebody all they wanted at 50 cents a month—but then probably that wouldn't relieve the situation. The human race is a queer one, and the chances are that the consumers would have some kick coming even under such conditions. Something would be wrong."

"Of course, it isn't fair to the city or other water consumers for one to use the water on the days that sprinkling and irrigating are prohibited, and you can't hardly blame one for calling attention to the short comings of his neighbor. But when it comes to one of the complaining ones being one who has been complained against, it seems to me that that is carrying tattling to the limit."

$325 IN TWO MONTHS FOR KILLING COYOTES

MARYSVILLE, Cal., July 8.—Warrants for $325 were cashed by County Treasurer Harvey D. Eich for Samuel Marple of Marysville here the other day as bounty on sixty-five coyotes which Marple and his brother captured in April and May in the hills between Marysville and Brown Valley. Marple believes there are two species of coyotes in the hills of Yuba county. He says he has discovered signs of twelve to fourteen "dumb" or "gray" colored and smaller sized litters of gray animals. Marple does not kill the older animals, but tracks them to their lairs, where he captures the entire families.

NO PRISONERS FOR JAIL, WHY KEEP IT?

CANTON, O., July 8.—"What good is a jail when there is no one to put in it?"

This query was sprung by Mayor Poorman, and when he failed to get any answers from other officials he announced he would recommend that the city jail be abandoned and the space be repaired and converted into office rooms for the City Building Commission.

"The jail is of no use now," said Mayor Poorman. "It has only been used for several years for drunks and slackers and now we have none of these. The new jail is sufficiently large to take care of all prisoners," the mayor added.

There were no prisoners in jail last night and for the first time in recent years no prisoners were marshalled into police court this morning.

P. E. CAR SIGNS MISLEADING TO STRANGERS

City Cop Comments on Policy of Company Not Indicating Destination

John Jacobs Property at Santa Clara Avenue Changes Hands

"I would like to know why it is that the Pacific Electric cannot place Los Angeles signs on the front of its cars leaving Santa Ana," said Police Officer Neushwanger today, as he guided a stranger to a car departing for Los Angeles, after the man had stood by and missed the previous car because "Santa Ana" was shown at the head.

"I know why it is necessary to carry the name Santa Ana on the upper sign. It is done so that the tower man in Los Angeles can tell which track to send the car on when it enters the Angel City."

"There is no reason why the company could not display a metal sign indicating that a car is Los Angeles bound. By doing so it would save great confusion and annoyance to strangers within the city who want to travel by way of the Pacific Electric."

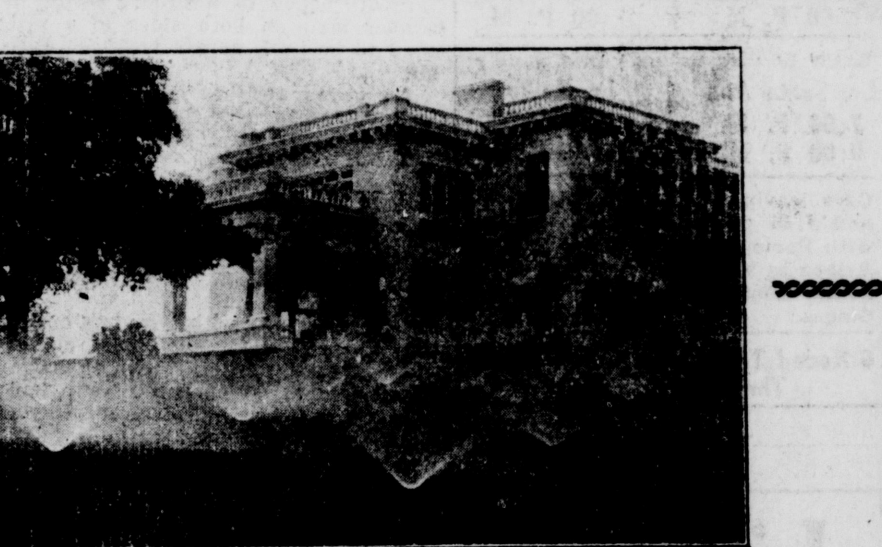

"I have seen people stand on the corner many times and let a Los Angeles car depart when they were waiting for such a car. And this simply because a proper sign was not carried."

All roads lead to Rome, they used to say in olden times; but nowadays the saying goes: Five boulevards lead to the Jewel City Cafe at Seal Beach, famous for its wonderful meals, its homelike atmosphere and its irresistible dance music.

Oliver Halsell, who recently sold his residence at 401 Hickey street to L. C. Fairbanks, who came here from Minnesota, yesterday completed the purchase of five acres of oranges at the southwest corner of North Broadway and Santa Clara from John Jacobs, Sr.

Halsell has purchased the Jacobs property, comprising five acres of oranges and a residence, for the purpose of making it his home. Mr. and Mrs. Halsell are making plans to move to the place at once.

THIS HADDEN SPRINKLING SYSTEM IS A LAWN MAKER

A hose is at best a make-shift as a sprinkling device for lawns. It is not a maker of beautiful lawns. It gives you too much water in one place—not enough in another. A hose is the cause of most splotchy appearing lawns. It is a waste of water. What is needed is a uniform sprinkling system; something that spreads water evenly without waste, without constant attention.

The Hadden Sprinkling System, shown in the illustration above, is a maker of beautiful lawns. The Hadden System does away with the hose entirely. It distributes water uniformly and eliminates loss through evaporation.

We install the Hadden Sprinkling System without injuring your lawn in the least. Let us furnish you an estimate. This is the system used by the finest homes all over the country.

Pennsylvania Lawn Mower

Mowing the lawn is no job at all with a really good lawn mower like the "PENNSYLVANIA."

It does the work better, quicker and easier. And it's self-sharpening. The "PENNSYLVANIA" more than meets the exacting requirements of professional gardeners, among whom it is the favorite.

If your lawn is worth cutting at all it is worth cutting well. Do it with a "PENNSYLVANIA."

Let us show you our various sizes of mowers, and our stock of other good implements for the lawn.

Sherwin-Williams Paint

Do your repainting with a reliable paint. Sherwin-Williams Paint is real house paint. It simply wears and weathers. It isn't mixed paint—it's specially prepared paint; made of zinc, lead and oil—the best of each and the right amount of each to protect and beautify.

MEAT PRICES IN THIS CITY ARE FOUND CHEAP FOR SOUTH

Comparison Shows Santa Anans Get Squarest Kind of Deal From Markets

Comparison of retail meat prices in a number of cities of Southern California proves that the high cost of living is less in Santa Ana, so far as meat marketing is concerned, than in any other city in which prices were secured for making a comparison.

Not long ago the wholesale price of steer beef dropped five cents a pound all in one drop, and this drop was followed by other lowering adjustments.

Santa Ana's meat markets responded quickly. Santa Ana homes through the retail stores got the benefit of the change. Over at San Bernardino, according to newspaper reports, there was no adjustment by retail markets to the new order of things. At least, the adjustment did not come early enough to head off shouts of "profiteering."

The San Bernardino Sun decided to make an investigation to determine if prices in San Bernardino were so very different from prices charged meat users in other cities. Santa Ana prices were secured not only upon some of the meats but also on eggs and butter.

The San Bernardino article, published in the Sun as a result of its investigation, raised the question as to why round steaks in Santa Ana were priced as high or higher than some of the supposedly fancier cuts. The question was put up to one of the best known retail dealers of Santa Ana this morning.

It is the demand.

"Simply because of the demand," said he. "A few years ago porterhouse, sirloin and T-bone steaks were more in demand than round steaks. They are not now. As a matter of fact, the round steak is the best flavored steak in the steer, and housewives have found that out. They have been using recipes found in newspapers and magazines telling how to prepare round steaks, and they have come to the conclusion that the round steak is the best steak. By baking what is termed a Swiss steak, the round steak is made into a very fine dish. There are different ways in which it can be prepared and served on the table so that it is just as tender as the other steaks. At the same price, housewives here would rather have the better-flavored round steak than a tenderloin. When a Santa Ana market has to send to Los Angeles to get an extra supply of round steak, the market is put to a little more expense, and naturally there is a little more added to the cost of round steak. On the other hand, if the demand for tenderloins and sirloins and T-bones goes down, the local market that buys quantities of steer meat wants to sell those steaks and probably puts on a leader price for Saturday specials, say.

"A number of conditions in a market may have something to do with fixing the price of a particular cut. Take brisket boil. In winter we can turn that into hamburger. In summer we haven't as much demand for hamburger as we have in winter, so we can't use our brisket in that way, and we put a low price on it, only two-thirds the average cost of the beef. Sometimes we will put out a leader. Say ham. It costs us, say 35 cents, and we sell it at 40 cents as a leader."

Let's Fight Fires In Santa Ana Before They Happen

THE season for dry grass and weeds and for crisp, undampened woodwork is here, and with it comes increased danger of fires. Santa Ana has been lucky in having few fires of consequence.

A big fire in Santa Ana is "overdue."

Fire Chief Luxembourg says: Fight fires before they happen. This can be done by preventing accumulations of old papers, grass and weeds, packing boxes, oil-soaked rags, and the like.

Within a short time an ordinance will take effect, providing that trash cannot be burned except between 6 a. m. and 10 a. m. and not within fifteen feet of any wooden structure. There is good reason for such a law. If it will be a good thing after July 23, it will be a good thing right now, so let's start obeying it now and thus minimize the danger of fires in Santa Ana!

ORGANIZE POSTS OF LEGION ALL OVER STATE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—Convicted that the American Legion—organized in Paris and St. Louis by Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and other World War heroes—is to become for the veterans of the Great War what the Grand Army is for the Boys of '61, California veterans are losing no time in organizing posts all over the state, according to Col. H. G. Matheson, chairman of the California temporary executive committee. Since the matter of organization of the Legion has been put up to Californians, more than thirty posts have been formed and more than that number are in process of formation.

It is estimated there are 140,000 Californians who were in the army, navy or marine corps between April 7, 1917, and November 11, 1918. All are eligible to membership. An honorable discharge is the only requisite for "joining up" in the big nation-wide organization.

Post No. 1 in California is in San Francisco. Posts have been organized in Oakland, Berkeley, Santa Rosa, San Rafael, Sacramento, Chico, Red Bluff, Willows, Modesto, Merced, Marysville, Hanford, Coalinga, Selma, Tulare, Visalia, Porterville, Bakersfield, Richmond, San Diego, Los Angeles, Pasadena and Santa Ana, Orange, Fullerton, Anaheim, Glendale and Pomona. San Jose, Palo Alto, Oakdale and Salinas are among the towns now organizing posts. The San Diego post has a membership of 1000.

The first state convention will be held in September. At that time, delegates from the state's posts will select delegates to the first national convention at Minneapolis, November 14. At the convention here, the state organization will be permanently effected, and at the national convention permanent organization of the nation-wide Legion will be the big order of business.

Membership in the American Legion is limited to veterans of the Great War. It is organized for purely patriotic purposes, to look after the mutual interests of the men and the dependents, uphold Americanism and reserve the comradeship engendered by associations formed with "buddies" or "mates" in trenches, dugouts, warships or training camps.

GAS MANAGER'S METHOD BRINGS MUCH MONEY TO COUNTY

Beside Buying Supplies Here, Firm Has Established Shop and Garage

This is the story of how one man's absolute belief in "trading at home" and general boosting of his own home town has resulted in the expenditure of many thousands of dollars in Santa Ana and Orange county, and the establishment here of an industrial plant which gives employment to the heads of over two dozen families at good wages, to the permanent good of the entire community. Orange county can stand more of such boosting and this story is printed in the hope that his example may inspire others to "go and do likewise."

Several years ago, along about 1911, the Southern Counties Gas Company bought the Edison company's gas distributing business here, and along with the sale also "took over" S. W. Todd, who has been with the gas company ever since and that he "made good" is shown by the fact that he is now manager for the gas company for all of Orange county.

Todd used to run a store somewhere back east, and his observation of methods used and goods sold by out-of-town mail-order concerns during many years convinced him that the trading-at-home principle is absolutely sound, and that the purchaser as well as the entire community benefits when goods that might have been purchased from the big cities are bought at home from home merchants who are right on the ground to back up the performance of their goods in actual usage.

Kept Big Supply

The general plan of large corporations in the past has been to buy needed articles in large quantities, keep them in a big storehouse in the large city, and distribute them as needed to the smaller offices, buying as little as possible in the local communities.

This method didn't appeal to Todd as good business, either for the corporation itself or for the communities which it served, for he believed that in many ways the corporation would be ahead if it bought everything possible in the local communities where the goods were needed. So Todd looked up facts and figures on buying in Santa Ana and Orange county, and presented the "dope" to President F. R. Bain of the gas company which serves the Orange county towns. When what he had to say in behalf of Orange county business men was backed up with actual figures, his words were doubly reinforced, and President Bain was easily convinced that in many cases it would be better to buy things the Santa Ana office needs in SANTA ANA and those that Anaheim needs IN ANAHEIM and so on.

"You've got the right idea; go ahead," said Bain, and ever since that time Todd has had the pleasure of distributing gas company checks totaling around $30,000 a year to Orange county business men for supplies and equipment used by the gas company and bought in Orange county.

Should Spend Some Here

"I like to do it," says Todd. "Our gas company is a part of Santa Ana and Orange county and I like to show that we are by handling these checks for articles purchased during the month to Orange county dealers. We get some of our revenue from Orange county and it's only right that we put as much of that money as possible back into circulation here as we can. President Bain and the general officers of the company realize this and encourage us to buy everything that we can here."

"Some things we can buy in Santa Ana for less than we can in Los Angeles and others at only a slight additional cost to cover shipping charges. When this is the case there's no question about its being good business to buy here, for then we buy things just as we need them and at the end of the year don't have a lot of capital tied up in hold-over stock as is the case when the central warehouse buys in large quantities and gets a supply of some articles which will not be used maybe for two or three years."

Some time ago a new Buick car was needed by the local gas office and Todd said: "We sell Buicks down in Santa Ana and I'll get it there, even if I do have to wait six weeks for delivery. We can get along without it for that length of time."

Several Ford cars were needed (the gas company has twenty cars now in use in Todd's district) and Todd remarked: "I'll get them down home, I guess," and they were bought from Orange county dealers.

A few years back the gas company was about to build a new meter repair shop for its entire system, which was then located in Long Beach.

TURBAN HAT NEWEST THING FROM PARIS ALL SHADES OF RIBBONS ARE EMPLOYED

London Critics Declare Chic Style In Ladies' Lids Here to Stay

NEW YORK, July 8.—Here's something else again. This time it is a turban hat. Eh, what?

They say it comes from Paris—in fact it is acclaimed as the latest creation of Paris milliners. Without attempting to doubt, some are tempted to suggest Africa, Arabia, or perchance Turkey, as its starting place.

But whatever its origin, behold this, one of the oddest of odd new hat concoctions, designed by a Paris milliner-artist. Furthermore, England lends its support.

London critics affirm that turban effects in hats have come to stay—that this is no "sport," botanically speaking, but is a real style. As for color, almost any shade of ribbon may be used. A hat for every gown is an easy requirement to fill, if one chooses to buy a few bolts of ribbon to match them.

POPULATION OF ENGLAND, WALES DECREASING

LONDON, July 8.—For the second time since the establishment of civil registration, the deaths registered in the last quarter reported exceeded the births. The startling fact is that the population of England and Wales is decreasing. There were 191,922 deaths and only 144,920 births; net loss, 47,002.

This natural decrease of population compares badly with the natural increases (by excess of births over deaths) of 51,982, 14,810 and 24,303 in the first quarters of 1916, 1917 and 1918 respectively. The last quarterly return of the Registrar General shows also that the births were 16,855 fewer than in the preceding quarter, and 17,388 fewer than in the first quarter of 1918. Males numbered 74,548, females 70,372, and the total births registered corresponded to an annual birth rate of 15.6 per 1,000 of the population in 1917. Deaths in the same quarter included 97,621 males and 94,301 females.

Influenza was either a primary or a contributory cause of death in 37,697 cases. In the three months ended December 31, 1918, the natural decrease of population for the whole of the United Kingdom was 90,130. Births were 206,358 and deaths 296,488. Adding this decrease to the figures for the first quarter of 1919 (which are for England and Wales only, Scottish and Irish returns may make the loss heavier), the decline in population is 137,132 in the six months.

The returns also record that the number of persons married in England and Wales during the fourth quarter of 1918 showed a decrease of 7,842, compared with the number in the preceding quarter, but was 1,126 greater than in the fourth quarter of 1917. In the United Kingdom the number of persons married during the fourth quarter of 1918 was 178,108.

JAPS CHANGE TESTS FOR SHIP OFFICERS

TOKIO, July 8.—With the construction of many ships of late, ship officers have become very scarce, according to reports of government and private shipowners. This situation has been brought on largely because of former seamen living lives of ease in this country on money made during the war boom, especially in the danger zones, and their refusal to work for the recent cut wage scale.

As a means to aid in the filling of the positions, the government of Japan has revised the regulations governing the qualifications, some subjects being dropped, while it has been decided that graduates of merchant marine schools shall be granted licenses without examination.

2 OUTLETS FOR TROLLEYS TO ORANGE ARE PROPOSED

New Pavement With Trilby Rails Would Cost About $110,000 a Mile

The Pacific Electric wants to remove its tracks from Main street, between Fourth and Santa Clara avenue, because of the excessive cost of paving and replacement of tracks with Trilby rails, according to a report made to the city council last night by John W. Tubbs, representing the committee of himself, Trustee Greenleaf and City Attorney Scott, appointed some weeks ago to take up the matter with the company. Assurance has been given that the tracks on Maple street will be straightened to eliminate a curve. The street also will be paved.

Two outlets for the company to Orange are proposed. One is by way of East Fourth street to Poinsettia, thence north to Washington avenue and from that point parallel to the Southern Pacific tracks to Santa Clara, to connect with the present line. The other is for the company to continue its line north from Fourth street through the car barn property to the Southern Pacific and parallel that line to Santa Clara.

The company estimates that it will cost $110,000 a mile to do the paving on Main street and put in Trilby rails. Assistant Engineer Duntun was here last week and went over the situation with the committee. He went over several routes, proposals being made that the tracks be removed to Sycamore, Spurgeon or French streets. Consideration of the fact that pavement would be required on the streets eliminated these routes from consideration.

Will Straighten Tracks

Duntun promised that the tracks on Maple would be straightened before the beet hauling season started, and the council committee gave assurance that a petition for paving the street would be placed in circulation at once, with the council agreeing to see that the Roosevelt school property is taken care of in the matter of paving.

After making a survey of the field here as to the change on Main street and improvements on Maple, Duntun returned to Los Angeles, stating that he would advise the committee very soon definitely as to what the company would do with reference to Main street. He said the company didn't want to revert to a single track on that street.

His assurance on the Maple street work was definite and there is no doubt as to what will be done by the

Why ask the wife or the "help" to sap their vitality over hot stoves, boilers and irons when an electric iron, washing machine, toaster or percolator will do the work quicker, cheaper, better and more comfortably?

Why impose drudgery when a practical vacuum cleaner will promote ease and cleanliness? Why not give the entire family the benefit of cool rooms and restful slumber by installing an electric fan?

About Digestion
 Digestion begins in the mouth. The food should be thoroughly masticated and swallowed before it is swallowed.
 When this is habitually neglected stomach trouble is almost sure to follow. If you now have indigestion eat no beef or veal and sparingly of other meats, masticate your food thoroughly and you may recover without taking any medicine. If your bowels are constipated take Chamberlain's Tablets.
 They not only cause a gentle movement of the bowels, but aid digestion and strengthen the stomach.

Two Outlets For Trolley Cars to Orange Are Now Proposed

Pacific Electric on that street. Straightening of the tracks will eliminate a feature that has been very objectionable, particularly in the beet hauling season, when long trains of cars passing over the curve create a great disturbance in the early morning hours.

Declaring that he believed the city was paying for lights when it was not getting service from them, and that the council had no way of checking the monthly statements of the Edison company for lighting service, Tubbs urged that the Edison company be requested to supply the council with a map indicating the location of lamps and the size of each.

"We are paying the company about $12,000 a year for service, and it seems to me that we should have some way of knowing what lights we are paying for," said he. "We should know where the lights are located and the size of each. I would like to know that we are getting what we are paying for."

No Credit Given

"I know of many instances where lights have been out for a week or two; but I never notice any credit for the 'outs' on our monthly bills."

A check was received from the Edison company for $2018 as franchise tax for the year ending May 31. The amount is 6 per cent on the revenue from juice supplied motors and all sources other than lights.

"All sources other than lights" rather got the "goat" of the council members and acceptance of the check was held up pending an investigation by a committee composed of Tubbs, Chapman and Scott as to why the franchise tax does not cover the lighting service. Incidentally it is learned that the franchise excludes the light revenues. It is believed a state law makes it mandatory to collect at least 2 per cent on the revenues from this service, and it is up to the committee to clear up this point.

A protest was filed against the adoption of an ordinance proposing to limit the loads on wagons with steel tires. It was signed by a number of contractors and prominent business men.

Wells and Bressler were among the signers, and George W. Wells being present, spoke against the adoption of the ordinance. The document, which has already been prepared, limits the weight of loads to 450 pounds per inch on tire wheel vehicles. Wells declared that it would materially increase the costs of all building operations and would subject farmers entering the city to great inconvenience, the final result being injury to the city from a business standpoint. The state law limits loads to 600 pounds and a county ordinance provides 700 pounds.

Would Protect Streets

Tubbs stated that the ordinance was proposed as a measure to protect the rock and oil streets of the city, he taking the position that as the property owners had paid the costs, they were entitled to protection from teamsters who put on heavy loads and broke down the streets, with no obligation to repair the damage.

Wells gave it as his opinion that all rock and oil construction was sufficiently strong to sustain weights equal to the state and county regulations.

H. C. Kellogg expressed the belief that the regulation would work a serious handicap in many ways, and speaking from the position of a paying contractor, said the council should at least make the new ordinance operative at a date late enough to permit the execution of work now under contract, based on hauling charges existing at this time.

In the matter of gravel hauling, teamsters have notified contracting firms that the charge will be the same for a yard and a half load as it has been heretofore for two yards, adding therefore 25 per cent to the cost of the gravel for street improvement work.

Action on the ordinance was deferred.

Going After Weed Lots

Chapman, reporting for the committee appointed to handle the recommendation of the public improvement committee of the Chamber of Commerce, that vacant lots and curbs be cleaned up under a law making it possible to have such work done and collected by adding to the tax bill, recommended that such action be taken. The city attorney was directed to start proceedings on certain streets, start of the work being properties on Main and Broadway, north and south; West Fifth street, East and West Fourth and East First street, the idea being to clean up the main thoroughfares leading into the city.

It will be necessary to specify the lots and the owner in advertising the work, and to make such information available for this and other purposes, City Engineer Hoy was authorized to secure a complete roll of property and owners in the city. After the list is secured he will see that changes are made as deeds are reported transferring a piece of property within the city.

Council Notes

A license was granted C. B. Nichols for operating a restaurant at 403 East Fourth street, in the Home Telephone building, the permit being revocable whenever the sanitary inspector reports the place unsanitary.

The Standard Oil Company was given permission to install two new gas tanks at its station on the corner of First and Main.

J. S. Smart was appointed a member of the Library Board, succeeding Dr. G. H. Dobson, whose term has expired.

Bids were opened for supplying the city with 25 tons of alfalfa hay and 55 tons of barley were referred to Greenleaf and Tubbs. The Nicholas-Loomis company offered alfalfa at $23 and barley at $24.75 f. o. b. Santa Ana. A. Lofgreen offered barley at $24.70.

Santa Ana's Meat Prices Among Lowest on Coast

Comparison With Charges Made In Other Cities Shows Buyers Here Are Paying Less Than In Many Other Cities

That extra cent doesn't pay for the wrapping. That kind of a price would not be well to take for making comparisons.

"However, I have followed retail prices charged in other Southern California cities, and there is no question at all but that Santa Ana markets are giving the buyers the squarest kind of a deal. Prices here all along the line are below the average. So far as meat is concerned, it costs less to live in Santa Ana than it does in any city I know of in Southern California."

The Sun's Report

The San Bernardino Sun's report of its investigations follows:

"After delving for two weeks into meat prices in nine Southern California cities in comparison with those in San Bernardino, The Sun tosses up the sponge and invites the women of the city to form a Housewives' League to send a delegation of experienced shoppers on a tour over the southern end of the state to determine what is the comparative price of meat and other staples."

"When The Sun called on its representatives in nine cities to gather in prices of meat, it was considerably of the opinion that there was profiteering on an extensive scale in San Bernardino. The results of the canvass have modified that opinion and brought the evidence that there are varying grades of meat on the market in Southern California making it impossible to arrive at any definite conclusion until an experienced shopper inspects the meat as well as ascertains the price."

Tests were made on the prices of twelve different cuts of meat, and in addition eggs, butter and sugar.

"Questions of whether there is credit and delivery enters to a considerable degree in prices."

"Here, for example, is the result on the price of porterhouse steak:

"The best grade of porterhouse sells in the three leading shops in San Bernardino at 45 cents a pound, credit and delivery. In a leading spot cash and no delivery shop the price is 35 cents, and it is claimed as prime steer."

"The Sun's representative in Los Angeles is a former San Bernardino newspaper man, acquainted with markets here as well as in Los Angeles. He sent these quotations from Los Angeles: Porterhouse steak at Sam Selig's market, 50 cents; at Young's market, 42 cents."

And this was his comment in explanation of the variance in the Los Angeles markets he visited: "Young's sells absolutely best of everything and their prices are in the same category with—(naming a well known San Bernardino meat establishment). Selig's meats are those common to the great mass of markets over the city, good but not the best."

"The Sun's representative in Santa Barbara reported the price of porterhouse steak at 45 cents. Redlands reported 45 to 50 cents, San Diego 40 cents, Riverside 40 cents in two shops, Ontario 40 cents, Colton 38 cents, Pomona 30 cents, and Santa Ana 28 to 30 cents."

"Pomona, Santa Ana and Selig's market in Los Angeles are therefore the quotations out of the thirteen shops from which prices were secured, which are far below the San Bernardino price. The price in Selig's market was explained by the statement the meats were 'good but not the best.' Personal inspection of the meat on which the prices were quoted in Pomona and Santa Ana would be necessary to determine if they could rightly be compared with San Bernardino prices. There is no record of

No bids were received for drilling a new well for the city and Chapman, Dale and Superintendent Wray were authorized to secure a driller to do the work. Councilman Greenleaf has offered the city free of cost ground necessary for one or two wells on property on Bristol, between Washington and Seventeenth. He will make a deed to the property.

Shelly Horton was awarded the city street sweepings until December 1 for $165, being about twice the amount he has paid for the fertilizer for the same period during the past two years.

The Park Commission was authorized to paint and enlarge the bandstand at Birch Park, the improvements to cost about $150. The front will be extended out six feet, giving better accommodations for the band and public meetings. George W. Minter and Professor Gustlin presented the situation to the council. Minter as a member of the commission, asking the improvements. E. V. S. Pomeroy, also a member of the board, was in attendance.

"We have a waiting list and a number of houses will start as soon as our tract is ready," declared Linn L. Shaw, in discussing water and sewer for the new tract Shaw and Russell are opening up west of the Polly high grounds. The firm is ready to sewer its tract, but conditions on Parton and Flower, where there are no sewers, inclines the firm to the belief that the city should take care of those two streets. The matter was referred to a committee consisting of Chapman, Dale, Hoy and Wray.

Hoy was instructed to proceed at once with the location of conveniences at the public auto camping grounds on West Walnut. Toilets, wash racks, tables and fireplace will be put in.

Carson Smart was appointed as an inspector for paving work in the city, the appointment being made on recommendation of Street Superintendent Hoy.

The board will meet in adjourned session at 8:30 tomorrow morning to appoint a chairman pro tem, to sign city warrants and will adjourn then to next Monday evening to take up matters referred to committees for reports on that date.

Wells and Bressler was granted a permit to work on Second street from Ross west in an effort to secure contract for paving the thoroughfare, rock and oil being proposed. The cost will be about 9 cents per foot, which shops in the cities mentioned are cash or credit.

"There was the same variance in other cuts of meat. T-bone steak, for instance, being quoted as follows: San Bernardino 40 cents at one leading shop and 45 at another, and 35 at the cash shop; Young's, in Los Angeles, 40, Selig's, in Los Angeles, 30; Santa Barbara 35, Redlands 45 to 50, San Diego 38, Riverside 35, in two leading shops, Ontario 40, Colton 35, Pomona 30, Santa Ana 25 and 30."

"On round steak the prices quoted were: San Bernardino 30 at one shop, 35 at another, 30 at both Young's and Selig's in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara 30 at two shops, Ontario 32, Colton 35, Pomona 30, Santa Ana 30 and 35."

"One of the mysteries in the Santa Ana prices is why round steak is quoted at 20 and 35 cents, while porterhouse and T-bone sell for 38 and 39 cents. This is merely one of the demonstrations that personal inspection of the meat offered is necessary before a comparison in prices is possible."

"On rib steaks the prices are: San Bernardino 45, (and at this shop the bone is trimmed out before weighing), and 40 at another; Los Angeles, 30 at both Selig's and Young's, Santa Barbara 35 cents, Redlands 40, San Diego 38, Riverside 30 at one shop and 35 at another, Ontario 32, Colton 35, Pomona 30, Santa Ana 30."

"San Bernardino 30 cents at one shop and 35 cents at another, Los Angeles, 25 cents at Selig's and 32 cents at Young's; Santa Barbara 30, Redlands 25, Colton 35, Pomona 28, Santa Ana 24 to 27, depending on the bone."

"On eggs and butter there is the same variance, but quotations from San Bernardino's leading credit and delivery establishments show these prices to be higher than the average elsewhere. At the cash and no delivery stores, however, the difference is not so great. The requests for the quotations read 'fresh ranch eggs' and 'best creamery butter.'"

"Here are the prices on eggs: Two San Bernardino credit and delivery establishments 60 cents, third store with credit and delivery 55 cents; cash and no delivery stores 53 and 54 cents. Los Angeles, 58 cents at Selig's and 64 at Young's; Santa Barbara 60, Redlands 50, San Diego 55, Riverside 50, Ontario 50, Colton 50, Pomona 50, Santa Ana 52. The San Bernardino credit dealers are higher on eggs than any place except Young's at 64 cents and Santa Barbara at 60 cents."

"San Bernardino credit dealers are likewise higher on creamery butter. Here are the quotations: San Bernardino, two stores, 70 cents; third store 66 cents. The cash dealers were selling at 63 and 65 cents. Los Angeles 65 and 66, Santa Barbara 69, Redlands 61, San Diego 66, Riverside 65, Ontario 65, Colton 65, Santa Ana 64."

"Price on sugar is 11 cents at San Bernardino's credit stores and 10 cents at cash stores. Los Angeles and Colton are 11 cents and other cities ranging from 10½, 10 and 9½ cents."

"The two credit and delivery stores where the prices on eggs, butter and sugar are the highest, it was claimed, in defense, that the policy was for the store to take its profit on every article, while the policy with the majority of the stores is to sell these staples at practically the cost price, making it up on other items."

"To check the price of meat in comparison to quality, credit or cash and delivery or no delivery, however, it is apparent that a correct understanding of the situation would be impossible unless there is a personal inspection by a delegation of persons familiar with meats."

"There is in San Bernardino wide dissatisfaction over the prices of meat. A Housewives' League could render a service to the city by making an investigation the results of which would be conclusive. If San Bernardino prices, in comparison with the quality of product sold, are high, a Housewives' League presenting the public with unprejudiced and personally secured information, could force down the price. If the prices are not high the city would be better off from a morale standpoint to know that other communities are paying approximately the same as San Bernardino for the same quality of meat."

"But for the Housewives' League to make the investigation would be the best plan for quicker action."
